Need Must Be Proved If B.C. to Get Federal Loan

Ottawa Firm, But Relief Works Not Expected to Cease

No Aid On Debt

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Vancouver Sun Special

OTTAWA—There is no real danger that unemployment relief works in British Columbia will cease this year on account of the present grave financial dispute between the federal and provincial governments. This is the official expectation here as Premier Pattullo prepares to fly to Ottawa for a showdown.

Some kind of financial settlement will be worked out between the two governments, it is believed. The federal policy, as explained authoritatively to the correspondent today, is that it will loan no money to any province except for unemployment relief purposes, and then only if the province is absolutely unable to finance itself. A "basis of need" must be proved by the provincial government. In the case of British Columbia that has not been proved, the federal finance department's officials have advised the government.

If the B.C. government can prove, first that it is unable to finance relief, and second that any loan advanced by Ottawa will be used for relief and nothing else, then a new loan will be made immediately. The fear in Ottawa is that British Columbia will use part of an unemployment loan for debt refunding or other purely provincial purposes. The federal government demonstrated again this week that it will do nothing to bail any province out of its own financial difficulties. It refused to help Saskatchewan refund a maturing loan and forced it to the edge of default. Private interests, not the federal government, rescued Saskatchewan and the same policy will apply to British Columbia.

The basic fact emerging from the present argument is that, as British Columbia's revenues continue to grow and break all records, the province must call less and less on the federal treasury and depend more and more on itself. Before it raises its own running costs, it must look after its own borrowings, the Dominion feels. It cannot continue to raise expenditures and then ask help here. The Dominion is determined not to take over provincial debt. This is the firm official attitude, but it seems certain some arrangement will be made to prevent a collapse of relief works this year.

MAGISTRATE QUILTS TO ENTER POLITICS

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Donald MacDonald has tendered his resignation as Trail police magistrate and stipendiary magistrate with a view to entering federal politics.

Parker Williams has been mentioned as a possible successor. Mr. Williams has acted for the Crown a number of times in the last few years.

Mr. MacDonald has submitted his resignation to Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, as in effect from April 30. He has been police magistrate, stipendiary magistrate and judge of the juvenile court since the death of Noble Blinn 18 months ago.

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 5 a.m. today—Pressure continues high over Vancouver Island with a shallow disturbance centered over Alberta. Moderately warm weather prevails throughout British Columbia and light showers have occurred on the coast and in the Okanagan. Temperature is moderate in the prairie provinces.

Wheat Bonus Basis Changed

M.P.'s Asked to Vote $1 to $2 an Acre On Smaller Yield Than Previous Higher Figures

OTTAWA (CP) — Acreage bonus payments for the crop year 1938-40 will be on the basis of $1, $1.50 and $2 per acre instead of $1, $2 and $2.50, according to the reprinted bill placed before the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Agriculture Minister.

The principle of the measure was not altered and the price changes were understood to reflect an increase over the 60-cent initial price payment provided for in a bill introduced by Hon. W. D. Euler, Trade Minister, which also was being reprinted and would not be made public until later today.

The acreage bonus will be paid on a yield basis and will cover half the total acreage under cultivation by one farmer. The yield ratio has been altered to the extent that the $1 bonus will be paid where the yield is from 8

British M.P.'s Send Messages to King

Commons and Lords Voice Best Wishes For Tour of Canada

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons and Earl Stanhope in the House of Lords today moved addresses to the King expressing their "loyal affection" on the occasion of the Royal trip to Canada and the United States, which will start Saturday.

The addresses, which were identical, conveyed "to His Majesty on the occasion of his departure for Canada and the United States of America assurance of the loyal affection of this House and of the deep interest with which it will follow the progress of His Majesty and Her Majesty the Queen during their absence from this country."

Mr. Chamberlain said their Majesties' journey "will give immense pleasure and satisfaction to their subjects in Canada and will further cement the ties of the Empire."

He said he was "confident the visit to the United States will be warmly welcomed in the great republic across the Atlantic."

OTHER PARTIES

The motion was carried in the House of Commons after Clement Attlee, Labor leader, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal chief, had spoken in a commendatory vein.

William Gallacher, lone Communist member in the House used the occasion to put in a plea on behalf of old age pensioners.

Mr. Gallacher said he had no wish to oppose the motion, but asked government supporters when giving Godspeed to their Majesties on the trip not to forget "the trip old age pensioners have to make to the public assistance committee and to think about doing something to relieve them of their heavy burden."

In the House of Lords, Lord Stanhope remarked that the King and Queen were undertaking a strenuous task and they would "endeavor themselves to all they met in Canada, the United States and Newfoundland."

Lord Snell, Labor, and the Archbishop of Canterbury both referred to the welcome which would be given to the King of Canada in the Dominion. Viscount Samuel spoke on behalf of the Liberal Opposition.

The motion was approved unanimously.

Britain May Delay Scrapping Battleships

LONDON (AP) — The British government is considering what reply should be made to Germany on the Reich's renunciation of the Anglo-German naval treaty, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

Later J. J. Llewellyn, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, said the Admiralty was reconsidering a decision to scrap in 1942 two battleships of the Royal Sovereign class.

These vessels, to have been scrapped under the terms of the Anglo-German treaty, are considered important for use as convoy leaders in time of war.

BRITAIN LAUNCHES BIG BATTLESHIP

Second of Five 35,000-Tonners Takes Water at Birkenhead

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. (AP) — The second 35,000-ton battleship built under Great Britain's new rearmament program was launched today and named Princess of Wales. The Princess Royal, the King's sister, christened the new ship.

Immediately after the battleship had slid down the ways she broke one of her anchors. Her other anchor was dropped and she was brought safely to rest in the middle of the river Mersey. The Prince of Wales is a sister ship to the King George V which the King himself launched at Newcastle February 21. Three others of this class, the Duke of York, Jellicoe and Beatty, are under construction. Four more battleships, which are expected to be of 40,000 tons or more, are authorized or planned by the navy.

DOCTOR FORCED TO ATTEND GUNMAN

Removes Bullet at Pistol Point After Chicago Hold-up Murder

CHICAGO (AP) — Pals of a wounded gunman—one of two who killed a man and wounded two policemen in an attempted tavern hold-up—forced a physician at pistol point today to remove a bullet from the robber's back with a razor blade.

Alex Ferguson, 57, a patron of the tavern, was killed and police officers Edwin McIntyre, 42, and Philip Kelly, 35, were wounded in the hold-up.

Dr. Siegmund Hirschfeld notified police he was summoned from his home, driven to an apartment and compelled to extract a bullet from near the base of the spine of a young man. When the bullet was removed, he said, the wounded man snatched it from the doctor and said:

"I'm going to send it back to that guy that shot me and see how he likes it."

The physician said the wounded man drew a pistol and kept him covered while the other man and an attractive blonde woman packed their clothes and apparently loaded grips into an automobile. They helped the wounded man dress and left after warning the physician not to summon police for at least 15 minutes.

The physician said a safety razor blade was used in the operation, because he had brought no cutting instrument with him.

Just before the three fugitives left, they told the physician if he did not notify the police he would find $250 in his mailbox in the next few days.

Germans Leave Spain

BURGOS (AP) — German aviators who fought for General Franco in the Spanish Civil War are preparing for an early return home. The exodus is expected to begin this week.

The most important group of Germans in Spain is the "Condor Legion," commanded by General von Richtofen, a cousin of Germany's most famous Great War flyer, Baron Manfred von Richtofen who was shot down by Capt. Roy Brown of Toronto.

Japan Asks More Voice in Shanghai Foreign District

Demands Nippon Members of Council Be Increased

Britain, U.S. Pressed

TOKIO (AP) — Renzo Sawada, vice-minister of foreign affairs, Wednesday presented to the British and United States ambassadors demands that the Shanghai Municipal Council, governing body of the Shanghai International Settlement, be reorganized to give the Japanese a larger voice in its affairs and to permit more complete control of "terrorism" in the settlement.

Sawada declared the structure of the Shanghai council was outmoded long ago and that "the Japanese community is not given due and fair expression in the administration of the settlement." He added that some measures must be taken immediately.

(Japan now has two members of the council, Great Britain five and the United States two. Before the Japanese-Chinese war there also were five Chinese members.)

PUPPET REGIMES

"The Japanese government cannot pass unnoticed the activities of anti-Japanese elements or those hostile to the new (Japanese sponsored) regimes in China," Sawada told the ambassadors.

"(International) Settlement authorities and all interested countries must give serious consideration to the necessity of thorough control of terrorism and take the required steps accordingly."

(Stirling Fessenden of Fort Fairfield, Maine, will be succeeded June 30 as secretary-general of the Shanghai Municipal Council by a Briton, G. Godfrey Phillips. The elected council governs the settlement, which had a population of 1,499,443 in 1938. The chairman, Cornell S. Franklin, is an American.)

Nazis Expel Britons

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — Six British subjects, including Hugh Carleton Green, Berlin correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, Conservative, were ordered tonight to leave Germany by May 24.

The move was in reprisal for Great Britain's expulsion of Dr. R. G. Rosel, London correspondent of the National Zeitung of Essen, and other Germans residing in the United Kingdom.

Those ordered to leave the Reich, with Mr. Green are W. L. Dickinson, a merchant; H. Tink, a professor of English, and R. P. Smith, an engineer, all of Düsseldorf; H. Large, a manufacturer at Cologne, and a Mr. Parnell, head of a Hamburg corporation.

BRITISH RECRUITING SPEEDS UP—The continuing tension in Europe is causing many Londoners to rush to the new Territorial Army Information Bureau opened by Lord Mayor at the Mansion House. Would-be recruits, outside the class covered by the new conscription bill, are going there in hundreds—particularly at the lunch hour—to obtain full information of the various units of the great "Spare Time" army Britain is building up so that they may choose the one that appeals to them most, or to which they are best suited. In this picture members of the Women's Auxiliary Force are putting up posters at the Mansion House Information Bureau.

Russia Removes Litvinoff From Foreign Ministry

Moscow Says Release Made On Commissar's Own Request

Molotov Named

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass (official Soviet news agency) today announced Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Union's veteran Foreign Affairs Commissar, had been "released" from his post.

V. Y. Molotov, chairman of the Council of the People's Commissars — equivalent to premier — was appointed to hold the foreign affairs post in addition to his previous position.

MAXIM LITVINOFF

Tass said the president of the Supreme Soviet "released Litvinoff on the latter's request."

Litvinoff was understood previously to have agreed to attend a meeting with the French and British foreign ministers at Geneva May 15.

Litvinoff has been Russia's principal spokesman in all its international dealings of the last decade and is almost as familiar a figure in London, Paris and Geneva as in Moscow.

Before his appointment as foreign commissar he served Russia as diplomatic representative in Britain and did more than any other man to restore friendly relations between the two countries. He was also responsible for the resumption of diplomatic relations between the United States and Russia.

He headed the Soviet delegations to The Hague, disarmament and London economic conferences, and is an excellent linguist. He is 62 years old and is married to an Englishwoman.

Move to End Bloc Deadlock

British, French and Russian Foreign Ministers To Try to Complete Anti-aggression Pact

LONDON (AP) — The foreign secretaries of Great Britain, France and Russia were reported today to have arranged to meet at Geneva May 15 in an effort to find a common way to stop further aggression in Europe. The League of Nations Council is scheduled to meet in Geneva at that time and it is stated authoritatively that Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France have agreed to take this opportunity to try to break the deadlock in the negotiations by which Britain and France hope to bring Russia into their antiaggression alliance.

Reich Assurances Invited

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — Germany and Italy would not be excluded from Europe's antiaggression front if they showed willingness to participate in the general objective of the scheme, Prime Minister Chamberlain indicated in the House of Commons today.

In answer to a question by Arthur Henderson, Labor, Mr. Chamberlain said:

"In recent statements I have made it clear there is no foundation whatsoever for the charge that the British government has adopted a policy of encircling Germany."

He added: "What President Roosevelt proposed in his message to Hitler and Mussolini April 14 and what I understand Herr Hitler to offer in his April 28 speech is an exchange of assurances of nonaggression rather than a guarantee on a reciprocal basis such as recently was given Poland."

"The British government are certainly ready to consider proposals for an exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German government."

Mr. Chamberlain smiled and gave an inaudible reply when Mr. Henderson asked if the government would take the "proper steps" to have the Prime Minister's statement drawn to the attention of the German government.

Another objective of the present manoeuvre is to prevent further "encirclement," as the Germans call the Anglo-French system of antiaggression alliances.

No Wide Baltic Pledge

LONDON (CP) — Although the cabinet discussed negotiations for inclusion of Russia in an anti-aggression bloc before the Commons met this afternoon, Prime Minister Chamberlain for the third successive day said he could make no public announcement concerning them.

It was reported, however, that the cabinet had decided to reject Russia's proposal for a joint guarantee by Britain, France and the Soviet to all Baltic and Black Sea states. Instead, it was learned from a reliable source, the government wants an alliance of mutual military aid between the two democracies and Russia, with the Soviet promising to aid states guaranteed by Britain and France "if, as and when" her support is desired.

BARRYMORE SUES WIFE OVER MONEY

Mother-in-law and Adviser Also Objects of Action By Film Star

NEW YORK (AP) — John Barrymore, the veteran actor, today brought suit against his wife, Elaine Barrie, for separation and at the same time named her and two other persons as defendants in an action for an accounting of an estimated $300,000 of his funds.

The defendants in addition to Miss Barrie—who last Saturday left Barrymore's touring comedy at St. Louis—are her mother, Mrs. Edna Jacobs, and David Fisher described in the suit as confidential adviser to the two women.

The actor's complaint alleges the three conspired "maliciously" to defraud him of funds which he claims had been put in their hands to purchase certain property for him.

They were given power, the suit claims, to draw on three bank accounts and subsequently bought a Hollywood home and "wrongfully" entered the title in Mrs. Barrymore's name.

LONG TERMS FOR BRIDGE BOMBING

Irishmen Get Sentences Of 20 and 10 Years in London Court

LONDON (AP) — Shouting "God Save Ireland!" two members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army were sentenced today to long prison terms for attempting to blow up the Hammersmith Bridge in London.

As warders hustled him away after his 10-year sentence was pronounced, William Browne cried: "At the end of my sentence—whether it is 10, 20 or 40 years—I'll try to do the same thing again."

John Connell, sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment, told the central criminal court judge: "The fight will continue until the British government has withdrawn its forces from Ireland. Come what may—prison or death—I will stand by the proclamation of the Irish Republican Army."

Steel girders of the bridge were shattered by an explosion March 29 after a London court had sentenced nine I.R.A. extremists for an earlier bomb plot.

Hitler Attempts To Form Group In North Europe

Nonaggression Pacts Offered Scandinavians And 3 Other Nations

Eyes On Poland

By LOUIS LOCHNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN — Chancellor Hitler sought today to form a neutral bloc of at least six nations extending across northern Europe.

The German leader offered identical nonaggression pacts to Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, made similar approaches to Latvia and Estonia, and there were strong reasons to believe that proposals of like nature had been submitted to a number of other European countries.

Lithuania was not included in the Chancellor's projected northern combination because her relations with Germany are regulated by a separate treaty which contains nonaggression pledges.

One object of this diplomatic activity is to isolate Poland. Hitler already feels assured that Hungary has cast her lot with Germany, even to the extent of forsaking a historic friendship with Poland, as a consequence of the Berlin visit of the Hungarian Premier and Foreign Minister last week.

Another objective of the present manoeuvre is to prevent further "encirclement," as the Germans call the Anglo-French system of antiaggression alliances.

POLISH MOVES WATCHED

Hopes were high in German quarters, meanwhile, that Poland would have to come to terms acceptable to Germany. The press started at noon to bring reports from England and France indicating the British and French publics were criticizing the Polish press for exaggerated demands for territory now German.

From a man in a position to know what Hitler and the Hungarian Premier and Foreign Minister — Count Teleki and Count Cskay — discussed, the writer ascertains that the Hungarian position is as follows:

Hungary and Poland have been traditional friends.

Sentimental scenes on the Polish-Carpathian border last March, after Hungarian troops had battled their way across Carpatho-Ukraine (eastern Czechoslovakia) to establish a common frontier between Poland and Hungary, were genuine.

But sentiment and tradition cannot stand in the way of the hard facts of politics. The fact is that the Poles have rejected an offer from Hitler, which the Hungarian government considers to have been magnanimous.

Hungary feels secure in her friendship with Germany. She does not know what "mistakes" Poland may make next. Hence, if a choice must be made between Poland and Germany, Hungary is ready to side with Germany.

Meanwhile, Hungary fervently hopes Poland will prove "reasonable." She has reason to believe Premier Mussolini is urging moderation on both Poland and Germany.

As to Slovakia, the Hungarian dream of seeing it incorporated in a greater Hungary still persists, but at present difficulties of realizing it are so great it is part of wisdom not to press it.

Hitler himself apparently took the initiative in the offers to the Scandinavian nations.

HOPES OF RAIN IN ALBERTA FIRE AREAS

Fighters See Promise Of Weather Aid as Clouds Veil Sun

EDMONTON (CP) — Overcast skies and cooler weather brought promise of rain today to aid check forest fires in various sections of Alberta.

An estimated 3,000 men are still battling the flames that have consumed timber and damaged farm buildings. All fire fronts reported drops in temperatures and prospects of rain, while the official forecast indicated light showers.

J. A. Hutchison, Alberta assistant director of forestry, said two new fires had been reported to his department—a stubborn timber blaze between Mercoal and Cadomin and another west of Drayton Valley, 100 miles west of Edmonton. He said the situation generally was still "quite serious" but would be eased greatly by a few hours' rain.

Vancouver Murder Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Magistrate H. S. Wood in police court today adjourned till May 11 the hearing of Harry McMillan, Linda Wilson and a 17-year-old youth charged with the murder April 11 of Woo Dack, Chinese cafe proprietor.

The three were arrested several days after Dack's battered body was found in his room. Police said he had been murdered and that they believed robbery the motive.

POLISH TROOPS MARCH IN WARSAW

Crowds Shout
"Down With Hitler"
During Big Parade

WARSAW (AP) — Cries of "Down With Hitler" mingled with cheers for Polish troops parading through Warsaw today in the capital's celebration of the 148th anniversary of Poland's first constitution.

There were other shouts of "Hurrah for Polish Danzig!" and "East Prussia Must Be Polish!" (East Prussia is a part of Germany separated from the Reich proper by the Polish Corridor. Both Germany and Poland have claims concerning the Free City of Danzig, at the head of the Corridor).

Crowds jammed sidewalks along the eight-mile route of the parade and threw flowers at the clattering cavalry units and rumbling groups of mechanized weapons.

Sober defence preparations in the face of tense relations with Germany otherwise marked the anniversary.

The traditional army parades were on a smaller scale than usual because so many soldiers were on duty at frontier posts. President Ignace Moscicki issued a decree permitting extension of manoeuvres for reserve officers from four to 10 weeks.

Foreign Minister Joseph Beck

completed the draft of the speech in which he will reply before Parliament to Chancellor Hitler's renunciation of the Polish non-aggression treaty, and deal with German demands for Danzig and a 15-mile wide German road across the Polish Corridor.

The reply will be delivered at noon (3 a.m. P.S.T.) Friday and will be a 30-minute address.

The press predicted Beck would answer Hitler's demands with a clear "No."

FINNISH NEUTRALITY SOUGHT BY REICH

HELSINGFORS, Finland (AP) — Germany's approval of plans by Sweden and Finland to fortify the Aaland Islands carried with it—according to a press report today—a companion proposal that Finland maintain strict neutrality in event of war in the Baltic.

A dispatch from Stockholm yesterday told of Germany's approval of plans to fortify the Aaland Islands at the narrow entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia, northern extension of the Baltic. Great Britain approved the plan February 15.

Russia is reported to have objected to the fortification plan on the ground that neither Finland nor Sweden was strong enough to hold the islands in case of attack.

HAHN TO TESTIFY AT BREN HEARING

President of Inglis Company Called By Commons Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — Major James E. Hahn, president of the John Inglis Co., Toronto, contractors for the Bren guns, will appear as a witness before the Commons public accounts committee tomorrow. Chairman W. A. Fraser, Liberal, Northumberland, Ont., informed the committee today that after Major Hahn had been heard Major-General L. R. LaFleche, Deputy Minister of National Defence, would be called.

The committee today heard Watson Seller, comptroller of the treasury, whose duty it is to issue payment for all the Bren gun accounts. Efforts on the part of Howard C. Green, Conservative, Vancouver South, to obtain Mr. Seller's comment on the propriety of the expense account for $25,171, rendered by Major Hahn but eventually rejected by the Defence Department, were strenuously contested.

Question On Munich

LONDON (AP) — There was no answer by Prime Minister Chamberlain when Lieut-Commander Reginald Fletcher, Labor, asked in the Commons today if reciprocal assurances exchanged at Munich had not since been found worthless.

Beatty Says:

Opportunity Here Greatest

C.P.R. President Strikes Note of Optimism At Annual Meeting of Company

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada still offers one of the "greatest fields in the world for expansion of population and development of natural resources," Sir Edward Beatty told shareholders today at the annual meeting of Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Sir Edward in his presidential address predicted the company, taking into consideration all present economic conditions, "may look forward with greater confidence to the immediate and distant future than railways in most other countries."

"Unfavorable returns" of the last year were due, he said, to a combination of circumstances peculiar to Canada.

"One of its major industries—that of grain growing—has suffered from drought and from abnormally low prices for its product.

"In addition, your company conducts its business in competition with another railway generally paralleling it throughout the country and subsidized by the state. While the effect of the competition of highway transport is not as marked as in some other countries, it is accompanied by severe competition from inland waterways."

Yet, he said, the advantages in the situation "are that Canada still offers one of the greatest remaining fields in the world for expansion of population and development of natural resources."

GENERAL PEACE NEEDED — Sir Edward, re-elected along with the entire board, said the effect of the uncertain international position has been especially marked on this continent and consequently it was impossible to hope for a major restoration of normal business activities in any country until general peace between nations is established.

Reviewing company business, the president said it seemed "reasonable to forecast that with a sound policy of elimination of unnecessary railway duplication and of reasonable control and taxation of competing forms of transport, the company may look forward with greater confidence to the immediate and distant future than railways in most other countries."

The Royal Visit combined with expositions in New York and San Francisco would do much, he thought, to stimulate domestic travel.

However, internal business conditions in Canada remained disturbed and in some respects depressed. Manufacturing activities were maintaining a fairly satisfactory volume. The mining industry was continuing to show steady expansion. The paper industry was suffering to some extent from failure of business in the United States to show anticipated recovery. The great agricultural industry of eastern Canada, which actually employed more workers and capital with a greater production value than agriculture in western Canada, was not markedly prosperous but was in a sound economic position.

Two industries, construction and western wheat-growing, presented outstanding difficulties. The construction industry was failing to show reasonable expansion, with the present small volume resulting chiefly from expenditure of government money. There was need for a large amount of low rental housing, he said.

GRAIN CROP IMPROVEMENT

In the west there was reason to hope for definite improvement in the grain crop for 1939. The small crops of recent years were sold at low prices. The company's earnings depended not only on the movement of very low rates of agricultural products of western Canada, but on the ability of the producer to exchange these for an adequate volume of merchandise which paid higher rates. There was hope for some recovery of grain prices above present low levels.

The annual report for 1938 showed the first major interruption of the slow but steady progress.

JAPANESE BOMBS LEAVE 2,000 DEAD

CHUNGKING (CP) — More than 2,000 civilian casualties were reported Wednesday after Japanese warplanes in two air raids had bombed Foochow and this war-time capital of China.

Swamping down over Chungking late in the day, 18 Japanese raiders dropped scores of bombs. First estimates set the casualties at more than 1,000. A United States citizen, Paul Drossen, was slightly wounded.

Chinese pursuit planes took to the air to fight off the raiders.

Chamberlain Replies To Conscription Taunt

LONDON (AP) — In response to an assertion that Earl Baldwin had pledged the present national government against conscription in 1935 when he was Premier, Prime Minister Chamberlain said in the Commons today, in defence

SENATORS URGE DEFENCE BOOST

Ballantyne and Paquet, Conservatives, Want Modernization

OTTAWA (CP)—Modernization of Canada's defences and strengthening of the navy were urged in the Senate yesterday by two Conservative members from Quebec.

Hon. Eugene Paquet voiced the French-Canadian contention that Canada should not participate in foreign conflicts, but said "we must modernize our defence equipment so as to put it on the same footing as that of other countries. Our trade routes must be protected."

Conscription in 1917 had been a great error, said Dr. Paquet.
Those familiar with the mentality of French-Canadians knew it would be impossible ever again to impose compulsory military service on them, if that service was to be overseas.

"I know that my compatriots wish to defend Canada, our religion, our liberties and our institutions," said the senator.
"They are ready to make sacrifices in order to achieve these things."

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne of Montreal, a former Minister of Naval Affairs, doubted the value of the present Canadian navy. He gave it as his opinion that if Canada were attacked it would be from the sea or air and that the present naval equipment probably could not cope with the heavier artillery of the potential enemy.

He recalled that in 1919 the late Admiral of the Fleet Earl Jellicoe had spent six weeks in Canada surveying this Dominion's naval set-up and he had reported this country's minimum requirements were three cruisers and four submarines with destroyers. The Jellicoe scheme had been discarded and a destroyer policy inaugurated.

In view of the present state of Empire affairs, and particularly having regard to the anxiety of the last two years, the senator could not understand why the government did not give effect to the Jellicoe plan.

"When we consider that today
the German fleet is not in the Kiel Canal but that 40 of her ships are in the Mediterranean, we must envisage that if war breaks out some of these will become raiders, conducting hit-and-run operations," he said. "It is possible they will attack our seaports."

Man Holds Breath for 5 Minutes 40 Seconds

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (CP)—
When A. J. Sheffield, 25-year-old printer's employee, sought to enlist in the Royal Air Force volunteers' observation section, the medical examiner told him to hold his breath.

Sheffield held it for 5 minutes
40 seconds.

The astonished medical officer called a fellow officer and asked Sheffield to do it again. He was one second short of his previous achievement.

Sheffield said he was determined to pass his test and held his breath till his head ached.

Welsh Coal for Timber From France

CARDIFF (CP)—South Wales collieries have just concluded their 19th barter deal with French exporters, exchanging coal for timber.

French importers have agreed to take 120,000 tons of Welsh coal, Welsh importers to take 80,000 tons of French timber. France, Britain's leading coal customer, took more than 1,000,000 tons in the first three months of this year.

Since 1934, when Wales and France first started their barter, trade goods worth more than $20-000,000 have been exchanged.

Canadian Press Gains Reported

Broadening of Services Described By Duchemin,
At Annual Meeting

TORONTO (CP)—H. P. Duchemin, K.C., of the Sydney (N.S.)
Post-Record told the annual meeting of the Canadian Press here today in his presidential address that "it is no exaggeration to say the Canadian Press is today giving the Canadian people a news service which is unsurpassed by that of any other country in the world."

Mr. Duchemin described as "admirable" the coverage of European news, particularly during the crisis that culminated in the Munich conference.

"Any discerning survey of the outstanding events on the history of the Canadian Press since we assembled in general meeting a year ago compels the judgment that important new milestones of progress have been achieved by our great organization in the past 12 months," said the president. "Our London office has been further improved in organization and personnel, with a resultant betterment in the character of the general service the newspapers of Canada are receiving from Great Britain. Never has the value to our members of the close co-operation of the Associated Press been more notably demonstrated than in the past six or eight months."

"I refer particularly to its admirable coverage of the continent of Europe with respect to the conspiracy of events which culminated in the Munich crisis, and to its prompt and comprehensive reports of developments at Washington relating to the whole international situation. The Havas Agency, too, has become an invaluable contributor to the steadily expanding Canadian Press service. Both because it is a French news agency and because of its efficient and accurate reports on the constantly changing European situation, it may fairly be described as an indispensable supplementary feature of the superb cable service the Canadian Press has built up for its membership."

CANADIAN NEWS

"But, after all, the factor of distinctive and paramount importance in Canadian Press news is and must always be the "pooled" domestic service, created by the exchange of reports over its membership network, and supplemented by the steadily-expanding news-gathering activities of its various bureaus," said Mr. Duchemin. "Unsolicited and generous tribute was paid to the efficiency and excellence of the work done by the bureau staffs of the Canadian Press both at the western and eastern divisional meetings which it has been my privilege to attend since last autumn."

"The part played by the Canadian Press, in co-operation with the C.D.N.A. and the newspapers of Alberta, in combating the attack of the Legislature of that province on the freedom of public expression, may be said to have at once reflected and strengthened the co-operative spirit which is as the breath of life to our Dominion-wide organization."

"An arrangement has recently been arrived at and shortly will be in operation whereby the Canadian Press supplies the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with a greatly-enlarged bulletin service of news for emission over its national network. This new setup has been reached after prolonged negotiations between representatives of CBC and a special committee of the Canadian Press, including in its membership nearly half the personnel of your board of directors."

BROADLY NATIONAL

"The advantages of having a working arrangement of this kind with the CBC are so obvious as to render unnecessary any attempt to catalogue them at length. But the fact that it places the Canadian Press in a paramount and dominant position as the supplier of news on the air to the whole Dominion, from coast to coast, is in itself, one submits, a circumstance of profound significance, because it is clear recognition by constituted authority, not only of the reliability of our news services, but also of the genuinely national character of our co-operative organization. Under this arrangement Canadian Press news must not be tainted by propaganda or even comment nor cheapened by sponsorship. All the bulletins so prepared and broadcast will be given to the people of Canada through the definitely acknowledged courtesy of the Canadian Press."

"I am sure I speak for all present in expressing the appreciation of the Canadian Press to the Prime Minister of Canada, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, for the honor he has done our organization in the appointment

NICKEL QUESTIONS

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was asked in the Commons yesterday by Rev. T. C.
Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., whether it was considering a possible ban on nickel shipments to Germany, as suggested Monday in the British House of Commons.

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Justice Minister, in the absence of Prime Minister King, replied this matter came under the External Affairs Department, which would be asked for a formal reply.

Airmen to Train On Alderney

ST. ANNE, Alderney (CP)— Acquisition of the St. Anne civil airport by the British air ministry, which is planning to establish an armament training school for airmen, has led to reports that Great Britain is preparing to convert this Channel Island into a second Gibraltar.

However, both the air ministry and the admiralty deny fortifications will be erected or that the islands will be used as a fortified base for operations.

Alderney, the third largest of the Channel Islands, is northeast of Guernsey. It is about 20 miles off the coast of France and about 100 miles from Portland Point on the south coast of England.

Highway Link Urged

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP)—A resolution forwarded to the provincial government by the Matsqui-Sumas-Abbotsford Liberal Association recommends construction of a mile of road from this Fraser Valley town to link the Trans-Canada Highway with the Washington state highway system.

The association also recommends that the Trans-Canada Highway be widened where it enters Abbotsford from the west.

New Trade Agreement

WARSAW (CP-Havas)—A new Polish-Hungarian trade accord providing for a 5 per cent increase in trade between the two nations was concluded yesterday. It will become effective June 10.

of R. K. Carnegie, Ottawa Parliamentary superintendent, as press representative for Canada on C.P.S. Empress of Australia," said Mr. Duchemin. "Their Majesties' visit will be an event of red-letter record, not only in the annals of Canada, but as well in the opportunity it will give the Canadian Press to prove its value and aptitude for service as a national institution. Its finest traditions are safe in Mr.
Carnegie's hands."

"Close in sequence after the Royal Visit, a Dominion general election may add another major job to this year's heavy program for the Canadian Press throughout the entire network of its member newspapers."

$35 Returned to Theatre Patron After 16 Years

ST. JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Ralph Nelson, former theatre doorman, no longer needs to keep that $35 a ticket-seller gave him to take care of 16 years ago when she feared a celebrating patron might lose it. Nelson, who never saw the man again until the other day, remembered his face and paid him.

The man tried in 1923 to purchase a ticket with two $20 bills.
The ticket seller, Miss Gladys
Selby, gave him change for only $5 and handed the rest to Nelson after telling the doorman to take a good look at the man so he would remember.

The patron did not return, the theatre burned down and Miss Selby was killed in a motor accident. Nelson kept the money at home.

Seeing a man on the street who looked familiar, Nelson said:
"I've got $35 for you." The other could not believe it, but then recalled that when he awakened that grey morning more than a decade ago he thought he had lost the money.

Aged Couple's Hospital Gift Causes Surprise

OXFORD, Eng. (CP)—John
Snow, 90-year-old stone mason, astonished his neighbors by giving $2,000 to a hospital. He had never earned more than $7.5 a week, but he and his wife had saved.

Snow, known locally as "the second Lord Nuffield," told the real Lord Nuffield, millionaire philanthropist, he and his wife had never been to a theatre and had never taken a holiday of more than one day at a time—a long time ago.

Both Snow and his wife recalled the days when Lady Nuffield and her parents were their neighbors at Headington Quarry, near here.

South Africa Registers

PRETORIA (CP-Reuters)—The South African defence ministry announced yesterday all men aged from 17 to 60 years who are not now in the army and have not served in a South African regiment, must list themselves in the national reserve registers of the Union. Formation of these lists will begin next Monday.

Nash to Visit London

LONDON (CP)—Finance Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand will come to London in June, at which time he will discuss with British officials the recently-announced restrictions on imports to New Zealand, Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, yesterday told the House of Commons.

Germans Jailed in Poland

WARSAW (CP-Havas)—Five members of the German minority in Poland were sentenced yesterday to jail terms ranging from three months to one year for subversive activities in Polish territory.

New Diplomatic Moves

WHEN MR. CHAMBERLAIN TOLD THE House of Commons this afternoon that neither Germany nor Italy would be excluded from Europe's anti-aggression front—if both showed a willingness to participate in the general objective of the scheme—he was lending emphasis to the basic principles embodied in President Roosevelt's appeal to the heads of the two totalitarian states. As if to clarify his point, moreover, the Prime Minister explained that the guarantees which his government had given to Poland, Rumania, and Greece were "against aggression and solely aggression."

Synchronizing with the discussion of this subject in the British House of Commons is an attempt by Reichsfuehrer Hitler to form a neutral bloc of six nations—extending across northern Europe. He has offered non-aggression pacts to Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, while similar approaches have been made to Latvia, Estonia, and one or two other countries. The apparent object of Berlin's new diplomatic activity is the isolation of Poland and the hope that by this means more concessions might be squeezed from the Warsaw government than appear feasible under existing circumstances. The Nazi chief evidently is convinced that he has nothing to fear from Hungary, but he is not quite sure to what extent the traditional Polish-Hungarian friendship has been disturbed—if at all—by what he chooses to believe is Hungary's impatience over Warsaw's attitude to German demands and threats. Until Colonel Beck has officially replied in parliament to Herr Hitler's most recent speeches, particularly the renunciation of the 19-year Polish-German nonaggression pact, the tension which still exists over the future of the Free City of Danzig and the Corridor will keep all European chancelleries in a state of uncertainty.

There is, of course, nothing surprising in Hitler's temporizing tactics. Mr. Roosevelt placed him and his Fascist "tool" in Rome in a very awkward position in the eyes of the world. And when the British Government performed the last rites over the remnants of Mr. Chamberlain's "appeasement" policy, by its adoption of conscription, the Nazi chief's discomfiture took on a much more irritating form. He may smile as he contemplates the "new army" which soon will be in the making; but he does not like the idea of it any the less. Well may he suffer from diplomatic staggers as he tries to discover a way out of the dilemma in which he finds himself. He has arrived at the spot in his career as a dictator and would-be world-beater in which mere words are of little use. True, action is left to him, but even his megalomaniacal mind still is capable of weighing the cost and consequences of trying at this stage to get by force what, thanks to Munich, he has been getting without firing a shot.

In view of developments since Mr. Roosevelt's appeal for common sense and sweet reasonableness Reichsfuehrer Hitler evidently is resorting—for the time being, at any rate—more actively to the policy of manufacturing confusion. For it must always be borne in mind that while the rest of the world staggers from crisis to crisis, shocked by one rumor after another, Nazi authorities can, if they desire, almost entirely isolate their own people from the effects of this instrument of policy. This is also true in the case of Italy. Rumors do, of course, sometimes spread in totalitarian states and sometimes cause nervousness. On the other hand, there can be no doubt that the democracies are paying a much higher price for the rumor campaign than do either the people of Germany or Italy. The democracies, nevertheless, are now actually calling the tune—and are in a position to call any bluff with which they may be confronted.

Science the Upsetter

JAPANESE LEADERS ARE NO DOUBT seriously perturbed about the embargo proposals embodied in Senator Key Pittman's bill now before the American Congress. But they are probably doing equally as much worrying about the tests being made by the manufacturers of women's stockings. News supposedly right from the sanctum sanctorum of big business declares that the new textile material made from "plastic" threads may yet actually put the silkworm out of business. If that flamboyant boast is substantiated, even in part, Japan will reel more literally than she would reel from a military setback like the recapture of Peking or Hankow. For what wheat is to the Canadian west, what cotton is to the American south, what coffee is to Brazil, even more than that is silk to Japan.

Reports declare that the new stockings look like silk and wear like iron. Indeed, Dame Rumor declares that what is holding back the marketing of the new hosiery is not for what they may do to Japan but to the stocking manufacturers of the United States. The scientists and engineers are old hands at throwing monkey wrenches into politics and economics. If Watt was really the father of the steam engine then he was as great a revolutionary as ever lived. For all the agitators who ever existed never caused the change that the steam engine forced in living conditions in all countries. So with the internal combustion engine. If Europe is again on the precipice of war it is at least as much due to the airplane engine, as to anything that Mussolini or Hitler or Stalin ever thought or did.

The whole history of man is a record of how some new invention or some unexpected occurrence changed the course of human affairs. If it was not some tinkerer with a sail on a ship, or a tamer of horses, or a gazer at shaking lids rattling on tea kettles—it was rats carrying plague. What the modern world has not yet realized is that there is a new variant of that old truth now in evidence. Science has wiped out distance as a barrier to human contact. But the mechanical results of that fact are infinitely quicker in their action than the social or the spiritual. It takes centuries of co-operative effort to produce the machine gun as murderously as a white man in a few days or weeks.

Violence Has Won

AT NO TIME IN MODERN HISTORY has there been more loose thinking abroad than there is today. In spite of the fact that naked violence has taken the lives of hundreds of thousands of innocent civilians in the last few years, and in spite of the fact that nation after nation has come under the sway of rulers actuated by the ideals and ambitions of gangsters of the underworld, there are still considerable numbers of people who appear to believe that leaders like Hitler and Mussolini will come a cropper if simply left to themselves.

That is a comfortable theory for those rather remote from the scene of what might be called the dictators' next bite. As a matter of plain fact, violence has accomplished its whole program over and over again in history. Perhaps the two most striking examples were the destruction of Carthage and Rome, and the destruction of the great Arab Empire by the wild warriors from the east.

There was a lull of 22 years between the first and second great war between Carthage and Rome. The first was followed by an inconclusive peace. The second was followed by the wiping off of Carthage from the face of the earth. In the destruction of the Arab Empire, which reached a remarkably high level of culture during what were known as the "dark ages" in Europe, much knowledge was lost which has never been regained.

Forest Fires

IF THE FOREST BRANCH OF THE PROVINCIAL Department of Lands could anticipate Nature's and human vagaries it would be easy to make almost foolproof preparations for what has come to be known—and feared—as the annual forest fire season. Remembering last year, noting one of the driest Aprils in the last quarter of a century, the timber industry itself, in co-operation with the government service, has an organization in readiness to meet practically every form of emergency when the "old enemy" threatens. All the industry's resources, of course, always have been available for fire-fighting. But under the plan sponsored by Hon. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, definite arrangements have been made in advance whereby all its equipment will be instantly supplied in case of fire. A joint committee of the forestry service and the industry will supervise all these plans, and under its direction all its fire-fighting appliances can be rushed immediately to the scene of the outbreak.

In spite of all these arrangements it must not be supposed that the air of summer days in these parts will no longer be charged with smoke from forest fires from time to time. The plans to which we have referred, however, should serve as a reminder to those who use the forests and trails adjacent to wooded sections that the annual ash heap could be very substantially reduced in size if ordinary care were taken by the general public. Most of the charred hillsides, with their hideous skeletons which once represented valuable merchantable timber, stand as gaunt monuments to human carelessness and indifference to the value of a great economic heritage.

A floating mattress has been designed for fishermen, and it will be appreciated. A rowboat never was very comfortable to sleep in.

GREATEST SPORTS AREA

Chief Forester E. C. Manning of the provincial government service expresses high hopes for the development of a great winter sports area on Grouse Mountain, Hollyburn and Seymour. With the construction of proper ski trails, roads, cabins and jumps, these areas, just a stone's throw from western Canada's metropolis, could be made, he says, into one of the finest and most attractive winter sports playgrounds on the continent.

Mr. Manning, of course, has no authority to pledge the government's financial aid to such a project. Indeed, he indicates that the matter lies in the hands of the local civic and municipal governments.

As everyone knows, the local civic and municipal governments have all they can handle without undertaking a plan to build a great tourist asset on the North Shore. But we commend Mr. Manning's enthusiasm for the enterprise. It is particularly interesting and valuable coming from a man who has been directing the efforts of the single unemployed men in the province in their work of clearing and reforestation.

Indeed, this latter thought gives rise to the suggestion that the work of these men could very profitably be continued, under the direction of Mr. Manning, in carrying out the very improvements he himself so strongly advocates.

If forest camp men can be retained as guides in British Columbia parks, their number can be increased to develop the North Shore as a great winter sports centre.

OXFORD UNION

FROM THE THIN high gallery of the Oxford Union I felt rather like a god looking down on the mortals at play. And around me, squashed into window sills and standing leaning against the walls, were a lot of rather tired and uncomfortable angels.

The Oxford Union preserves its ancient traditions. No women members of the university (please don't call them co-eds) can become members or join in the debates. If they want to listen, they may—in the gallery.

We arrived early, for it was the presidential debate, one of the most important debates, after which the officers for the following year would be elected.

The nursery of parliament is in an ordinary hall. There are three throne chairs at the end, part of the seats are divided in half and face each other like in the British House of Commons, and around the walls the usual pictures of fungus-faced old boys.

Soon the future rulers of the British Empire—you've still got to go to Oxford to be a big shot—began filing into the hall. They wore, shapeless sports jackets, flannel trousers, suede shoes, and thick woolen college scarves wound round their necks. Some of them wore moth-eaten gowns no longer than their jackets—full-length gowns are only for students with scholarships.

They went to the side of the house which represented their views and slouched down on the long benches. In contrast with these untidy creatures, the officers of the union and the guest speakers were in full dress.

USE OF "OXFORD GROUP"

BEFORE THE DEBATE a member put forward a resolution that the house deplored the use of the word Oxford Group for an organization that had nothing to do with the university. It was immediately seconded and passed unanimously with great applause.

The question for the debate was "That this house would welcome the immediate introduction of a scheme of compulsory national service."

It was moved by Hon. Hugh Fraser of Balliol, and opposed by Mr. Christopher Cadogan of Magdalen.

The Right Hon. L. S. Amery, M.P., former Secretary of State for the Dominions, and former Oxon (Balliol and All Souls)—what did I say about the future rulers of the British Empire?—Supported the motion.

Vernon Bartlett, M.P., diplomatic editor of the News Chronicle, who won political fame with his recent victory as an independent progressive in the government stronghold of Bridgewater, opposed the motion.

The student debaters welcomed the guest debaters with subtle and scholarly jokes but floundered around in their arguments on the motion.

Mr. Amery said that the voluntary national service scheme of Sir John Anderson had been a failure. The 20,000,000 books which had been sent out had only resulted in 170,000 volunteers.

The disaster of the Great War, he declared, was that there had been no men trained for national defence.

He hinted that the government might make compulsory national service an issue in the election.

CONSCRIPTION "STRAW VOTE"
MR. VERNON BARTLETT said that the voluntary national service scheme had failed because the people had no confidence in the government. The forcing through of compulsory service now would be tantamount to a vote of no confidence in the people.

He did not object to compulsory national service but he objected to its immediate introduction.

At the end of Mr. Bartlett's speech, the members filed through the doors marked "Ayes" and "Noes." Compulsory national service was voted down by 192 votes to 173.

Many people are under the impression that the Oxford Union is full of Socialists. At the election of officers following the debate, not a Socialist was elected. Four Conservatives and a Liberal will guide the union next year.

THE MAGIC OF SPRING

There's a wonder abroad in the land today. Its magic is everywhere. Earth has put forth its mantle of spring, and trees are no longer bare. But are clothed in a lacy pattern of green against a azure sky. And my heart is thrilled with a glorious song as a lark goes caroling by.

The violet peeps from its mossy bank. The daffodils nod and sway. And I raise my arms and gather to me the boughs of the scented May. Like baby hands that are opening. The fronds of the fern unfold. And pussywillows are flaunting now their tassels of yellow gold.

The west wind murmurs among the boughs. Caressing the ferns and pines. And the air is clear and soft and free. Like rich sweet heady wines.

All feathered things are busy to nest. They chatter and scold so dear. And winter's fears like veils of sleep are lifted and disappear.

My heart is renewed with a gladness as God's magic of spring appears.

Hitleritis Damaging To Canada's Business

From the Northern Miner

Several months ago editorial reference was made to the possibility that the markets would have to accustom themselves to a long period of stress, to recurrent alarms over the international situation and to sudden and dramatic actions in the international arena. The experiences of the period that has just passed bore out the truth of the original suggestion. We have had markets which have shown the influence of Hitleritis in extreme degree. We have had war scares and we may continue to have them. But should they be allowed to disorganize market trading, reduce the value of share equities, and generally upset the economy of the country?

If Hitler and his partner deliberately undertook to ruin their enemies financially they could not have found a more effective means than that of offering a continuous threat of hostilities. Collapsed share markets, depressed commodity prices, migrating capital, have disorganized the business of the world. This process of confounding international and national trade is cheaper for Hitler and his satellite than actual war operations. Actually they profit by these manoeuvres materially. The only defence is the ignoring of threats, while preparing to meet actual aggression if it comes.

It should be thoroughly understood that Hitler and his supporters are out to bankrupt the democracies, to reduce the world to financial chaos. If he could get away with this without using cannon he would rank as a genius. Understanding his motive, we should be able to resist his methods. We must realize that we are actually at financial war with the totalitarian states and behave accordingly.

If there is one thing that Hitler understands it is destructive propaganda. This demagogue arrived at a time when the facilities of communication were ready for one of his type and for one with his purposes. He appeared on the scene at a moment when the world was ripe for trouble. He has in marvelous fashion shaped an instrument which, pointed by fear, could tear apart the fabric of international confidence. He is using that instrument with deadly effect.

We must surely all be aware that we are being dosed daily with large quantities of propaganda, from both sides. The newspapers are making a Roman holiday of the situation and the radio people are not missing any chances. Yet, knowing as we do that much of what we read or hear is pure propaganda, we actually go looking for more. We go seeking the jitters and mass reaction works directly into the hands of Hitler.

It may be years before we have security again and, yet, is there any certainty of war? Everyone is crying, War, War and there is no War. The last great conflict was not announced by years of threats. It came with dramatic suddenness when Germany seized on the opportunity offered by Austria's threat against little Serbia to put into action its long prepared military steam roller. In a matter of days the western world was involved in a conflict which dragged on for four years and which left everyone engaged in it tragic losers. The results of the last war have not been forgotten, even in Germany.

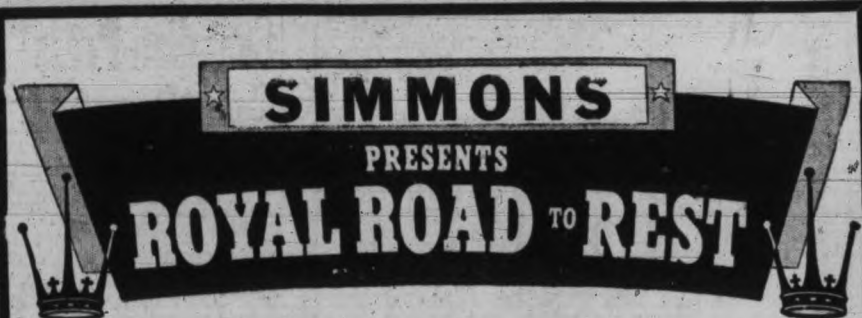

It is rather surprising to see the mining industry, or at least that part of it which provides the finances, so affected by Hitleritis. People in this industry are accustomed to taking risks; they know that mines are not made without chancing capital. There is a risk of war, of course, and if it comes there may well be losses in mining investments. But why take the losses in times of peace?

The mischief making of Hitler and Mussolini has already occasioned terrific financial losses in addition to loss of liberty. The diversion of capital into armaments is alone a serious drain on the world. The load of taxes to equip and maintain armies is an added strain on national economies. Fear psychosis has collapsed the markets. The diabolical machinations of this pair of international bandits have cost even the remotest individual money.

And it is quite possible that all this nervousness is quite unfounded, that it is only the result of a carefully-played game. The idea is worth consideration.

DEMOCRACY AND THE DRAMA

To the Editor:—At the meeting held in the Little Theatre rooms on Saturday night to elect a new chairman for the B.C. region of the Dominion Drama Festival the question was asked how the Dominion Drama Festival Eliminations could be combined with the B.C. Provincial drama contests and thus avoid the present system of duplication.

Surely the problem is not a very difficult one. What is now called the Provincial Drama Festival could become the Provincial Regional Festival of the D.D.F. and be held alternately in Vancouver and Victoria. Those groups wishing to go to Ottawa and able to pay the necessary fees could compete at the end of the week before the D.D.F. adjudicator and the other groups could compete for the usual prizes earlier in the week.

The one great advantage of this would be that the 10 district festivals which have been organized by the Provincial Drama Association would all become tributary to the D.D.F. and a logical sequence of elimination would result. The interests of Vancouver would have to be carefully considered and safeguarded.

Under this arrangement it could be truly said that the team representing B.C. at Ottawa would have been derived from the whole province and not as at present merely from half a dozen or so big city companies, and it would be quite possible for an enthusiastic group from, say, Peace River, to win their way right through to the Bessborough Trophy.

That I imagine, is something of what the founders of the Dominion Drama Festival originally intended, viz., a broadly-based dramatic movement springing from the very roots of the national life. The Canadian public is far too democratic to interest itself for long in a drama movement restricted to the wealthy and privileged. It is one of the glories of the drama that it contains within itself the power to strike off the chains that may shackle it. Capt. Thorpe-Double

NO OPPOSITION SWING IN B.C.

Little Chance of C.C.F. Replacing Conservatives, Say Leaders

VANCOUVER (CP)—Spokesmen for British Columbia's three major political parties agreed today there is little likelihood the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation will replace the Conservative Party as official opposition in the provincial Legislature, despite the C.C.F. victory in the Vancouver Centre by-election Monday.

Mrs. Laura Jamieson, C.C.F. candidate, won the seat, reducing by one the Liberal representation in the House. The seat was left vacant by the recent death of Alderman Fred Crone.

As a result of the by-election, the C.C.F. House representation was raised to 8, the same number as the Conservatives. However, Mayor Lyle Telford of Vancouver announced some time ago he will resign his Vancouver East seat in the House because of a party ruling no member may hold two elective offices.

Harold Winch, C.C.F. whip in the Legislature, said today that "in one way, we deserve to be the Opposition, but I can't see it done." He said the C.C.F. can count on the votes of Dr. Telford and Tom Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, and hence controls nine votes, one more than the Conservatives.

Captain Magregor Macintosh, provincial Conservative organizer, said "there is simply no foundation" for belief the C.C.F. might be named Opposition. "On the standing of parties, Conservatives have 8 and C.C.F. 7. That is all that counts."

Liberal headquarters agreed there is no likelihood of a change. Meantime, Mayor Telford in an interview said there is a possibility of resignation from the C.C.F., but "it all depends on the party."

"I am entirely at the service of the party," he said. "I resigned because it seemed to be in the best interests of the group. If they wish me to return, I shall do so." The matter will be discussed at the provincial C.C.F. convention opening here June 23, Herbert Gargrave, party secretary, said. A resolution urging a change in the party by-laws to allow Dr. Telford to continue in his two offices will be introduced, Gargrave said.

Crude oil is the primary source of motor fuel used in the world today.

Admits Killing Former Lord Mayor's Cat

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (CP)—Charles Tyrell Gile, pleaded guilty today to a charge that he killed "Whitty," a cat well known in London when Sir Harry Twyford was lord mayor in 1937-38.

Giles, a son of Sir Charles Giles who is a neighbor of Sir Harry, was fined 12 guineas (about $60) and costs.

A prosecutor from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said that Giles "shockingly mutilated" the cat when it crossed the garden. Giles is a bird-lover and was infuriated to find the cat in the garden, which is kept as a bird sanctuary, according to the evidence.

"Whitty" was presented to Sir Harry when he was lord mayor by Sir Joseph Turner, prime warden of the Dyers' Company.

The Nose and Sense of Smell

Now and then we may hear a person say, "It's as plain as the nose on your face!"

Surely there is a good deal in that saying! The nose is plain for all to see—except in the few places in the Orient where women still wear veils.

The size and shape of the nose differs a great deal in different persons. Some have long noses, others short or medium. An interesting fact is that a person's nose is usually as long as his ears.

The "bridge" of the nose is the bony part between the tip and the top.

Diagram of part of head, showing branches of nerve of smell

Inside the nose are the "turbinate" bones. They have a somewhat twisted shape, and are lined with tissue which warms the air as it is breathed in. On a cold day, the air would chill the lungs if it were not warmed before it reached them.

When a person blows his nose, it is well to blow one nostril at a time. That one nostril should not be blown too hard. Otherwise the ears might be hurt. Air tubes, leading from the back of the mouth to the middle ears, open near the places where the air channels come down from the nose.

The most important work of the nose is for breathing. We must have air, and the only other way to get it to the lungs is through the mouth.

Regular mouth-breathing is not good. Air taken in through the mouth is not warmed so well, and is not strained. In the nostrils, we have small hairs which take dust out of the air, and which also guard against insects coming in with the breath.

The nose is also used for smelling. Each nostril has many branches of a nerve of smell. The branches are in the upper part of the nose; they pass upward, behind the eyes, and join to form the two nerves of smell which reach the brain.

A person is likely to smell a single drop of strong perfume when he comes into a room. Some women who use strong perfumes do not make themselves "charming" by doing so.

On the other hand, a soft and pleasant odor, such as the scent of roses, appears to help make people cheerful.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, May 4, 1939

Kindly stars guide today, according to astrology. Benefic aspects rule strongly after the morning when there may be more or less indecision regarding important plans.

Commerce should be good as the volume of exports is likely to increase greatly. Trade agreements with foreign countries are to contribute to prosperity. The knowledge of secret overtures which threaten the markets will not interfere with expanding trade, the seers prognosticate.

Much travel in Europe or at least transportation of a large number of men to foreign countries is prognosticated. Sudden events of great importance are foretold. The element of surprise will be present in international affairs.

All the signs seem to encourage prognostications of intensive activity in manufacturing and in expanding preparations for national defence.

The year which will see extension of our national responsibilities as well as national perils will be one in which history is written in large letters.

Greece and Roumania continue under threatening portents. Political crises are foreshadowed. The Argentine republic as well as the other Latin American governments may be influenced by a European power.

The afternoon and evening of this day should be fortunate for persons who represent the best

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"There's nothing I can do about it! That's YOUR side of the family popping out."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married more than nine years and have two little girls, age five and three, whom I love very much. I am also very much in love with my wife. The trouble is this: My wife never shows any love for me and she tells me lies. I like a quiet home life. She doesn't. She has friends of whom I don't approve. I have lost confidence in her and we are always quarrelling, and a divorce seems to be the only solution. Is there any chance of restoring our happiness?

Answer: Have you ever tried as hard to keep your marriage a going concern as you do your business? Have you ever given as much thought and used as much diplomacy in trying to iron out your difficulties with your wife as you would in trying to solve some business problem?

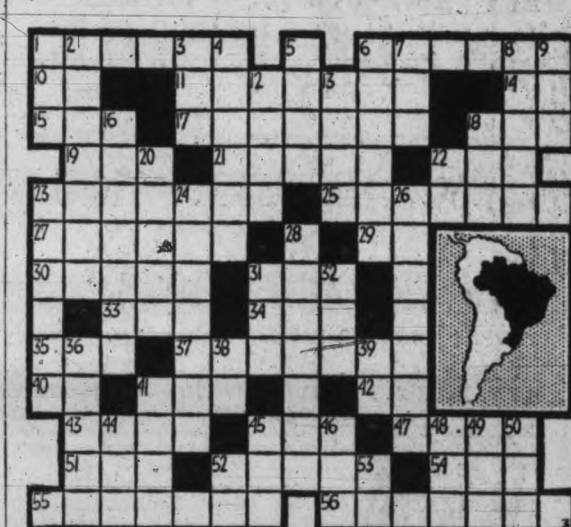

Have you ever considered that perhaps you make your wife tell lies by raising such ructions over every little thing she does that she is afraid to tell you the truth? There are plenty of women who lie to their husbands about the price of their hats because their husbands think a $2.50 lid is good enough for any woman to wear.

Also, have you ever thought that your wife has just as much right to pick out her friends as you have to pick out yours? You wouldn't like her to say you had to quit having anything to do with John Jones because she didn't like him. Somehow we are all sensitive about our friends and nothing riles us like having our families pick on them. Believe me, if you will quit criticizing your wife's women running mates, you will eliminate a lot of friction between you.

You say she is gay and pleasure-loving and likes to step out of an evening. Well, you knew that when you married her and you used to escort her about. Try it again and see if you don't get good results. Perhaps you do love your wife better than she loves you. That hurts you, but this inequality in affection happens in most marriages. The French have a proverb about it. They say "In love one kisses and one suffers oneself to be kissed."

Will Hike Across Canada

Young Art Student Hopes to Cover Globe in Next Few Years

Nora Harris, 345 Gorge Road West, is fond of walking. When many her age were riding in baby buggies, she was heel-and-toeing it through Beacon Hill Park. Two years ago she hiked to Quesnel, by herself, a stroll of about 400 or 500 miles out of Vancouver. Just for practice.

Today she started off on the biggest hike of her career. She'll walk to Nanaimo, ferry to Vancouver, and from there until she reaches Halifax, she's depending on her two feet. It's a mere 3,000 miles as the crow flies.

"But I'll be going more than twice that far," she said. "I'm not going to stay on the beaten track. I want to go out of the way places and sketch people and scenery in their natural surroundings. I may be five months or more doing it."

"I've been planning this for years," she said, "ever since I went to art school." Nora, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

As soon as she's caught her breath in Halifax, she's going over to the continent, plans to tour England and central Europe "and Russia, too, if I can get that far."

She is taking $2 and expects to have some change when she reaches Halifax. She sleeps under the stars wherever she fancies, has a little food in her knapsack for emergencies, and is quite willing to perform odd chores for the rest of her meals.

"You can live awfully cheaply if you plan your diet. Eat the things in season and that are native to that section of the country. I 'batted' in Vancouver for $3 board a month. And we lived like royalty."

She is wearing khaki shorts, a light sweater and a pair of men's soft leather shoes with extra insoles. All the equipment she will take can be packed in a light knapsack. It consists of a feather sleeping bag, slacks, a sweater, a leather jacket, a few cotton blouses, change of underwear, and a skirt "in case I'm going through a city or happen to visit relatives." On second thought she made another concession to the relatives and included a pair of street shoes. "But I won't wear them unless I have to."

Nora's two passions in life are her painting and her love of the out-of-doors. Asked if she were afraid she merely shrugged her boyish shoulders. "What's there to be afraid of?" It was suggested she might get lost. After all there are 3,745,374 square miles in Canada. "If you walk long enough, you're sure to run into something. Anyway, I can always eat dandelion leaves if I get hungry. They're quite good."

"I've always found you can't walk long before someone offers you a lift. But I don't want to take too many rides. I really want to take my time and sketch things. Time is no object. I may be away for years. It all depends how I get along. I'm not taking any money so you see the finances are going to have to take care of themselves."

Bears were mentioned. "I don't think bears are very ferocious, anyway. But maybe I'll change my mind when I see one."

CHURCH OFFICERS

The Church of Our Lord Choir has elected officers as follows: President, Rodney Dunn; vice-president, Miss Mabel Howland; secretary-treasurer, Miss Violet Howland; librarian, Miss Irma Dakers; honorary president, Rev. Wm. Spender Derby, who has left England and will be here soon; honorary vice-president, Mrs. F. M. Shandley; committee: Misses Margaret Chinn and Jean Appleyard; Frank Dunn and Tom Rhodes. Rev. G. H. Scarrett presided at the meeting.

Tomorrow evening at 8 in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall, Vancouver Street, Douglas Flintoff will show pictures of special interest in his "Around the World" series. There will be no charge for admission, but a collection will be taken to help defray the cost of the summer picnic for the pupils of the church school.

CROWDS FLOCK TO HEAR MARTINI

Nino Martini, the Metropolitan Opera's handsome leading tenor, who has been singing before capacity houses in leading cities throughout the country, will be heard here Tuesday, May 16. To the delight of his listeners he has overcome the problem of overflow audiences that crowd every inch of the auditorium and bulge onto the concert platform.

Mr. Martini's adroit handling of the situation is best illustrated by the comment of the critic of a Toronto newspaper where he has been re-engaged for the fourth season. The critic wrote: "The stage was filled to overflowing and, very considerably, Martini sang his encores to the audience thereon—turning his back on the crowded auditorium. The faces of listeners on the stage as he sang glowed with smiles that might have been Martini's own—rapturous, intent, worshipful and sunny. One of his encores was 'La Donna e Mobile' (Woman Is Fickle), and before the second bar of the prelude was reached a burst of applause filled the auditorium with a noise that could be felt."

Box office for Mr. Martini's appearance here opened this morning at Fletcher Bros. Music Store, 1130 Douglas Street, and both reserved and rush seats are now on sale.

Urges Smelter for Lower B.C. Coast

TORONTO (CP)—C. M. Campbell, Vancouver mining engineer, in a paper appearing in the April issue of the bulletin, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, urges erection of a smelter on the lower mainland coast of British Columbia to treat all western ores and such ores as would be found advisable to import.

All of British Columbia's copper ores and a large part of its lead and zinc ores are sent for treatment to Japan, United States and Europe, Campbell said, while its iron and alloys are imported. The paper said a treatment plant on the western coast would give Canada control of war materials and chemicals and provide an increased industrial and research population. The plant would be located between White cliff and Squamish. All western Canada mining areas would be tributary to the smelter.

B.C. PULP AND PAPER CO.

MONTREAL (CP)—Holders of 6 per cent first mortgage bonds of British Columbia Pulp and Paper Company Limited yesterday voted approval of various resolutions as submitted. Among them were the postponement of certain interest coupons and modifications in sinking fund instalments.

On a polled vote the changes carried $2,707,500 for and $60,000 against out of a total of $4,540,500 outstanding.

Plan provides for postponement of semi-annual interest payments due May 1, 1939, to November 1, 1940, inclusive, with interest at 6 per cent to November 1, 1942, and for cancellation of sinking fund payments falling due in the years 1939 to 1942 inclusive.

ALDERMAN MADE INDIAN CHIEF

W. H. Davies Becomes
Chief Thunderbird of West
Saanich at Ceremony

Ceremonial robes of the West Saanich Indians were worn by Alderman W. H. Davies, city celebration committee chairman, yesterday afternoon as Chief Thomas Paul bestowed upon him the title of honorary chief at a simple ceremony at Brentwood Bay.

"I presume the honor was accorded me owing to my efforts to revive the old Indian games, including the war canoe races," the alderman explained today.

With Chief Paul and three assistants in festive garb Alderman Davies was taken to the location of his initiation and there donned the ceremonial blankets and mask used for the function.

"I pronounce you Chief So-Quas," Chief Paul intoned and the ceremony was complete.

In addition to his moves for re-establishment of the canoe races, Alderman Davies was also known to the tribe as the manager of Baptiste Paul, former fighter who has more recently campaigned in the wrestling ring as Chief Thunderbird, the Indian equivalent of which name was bestowed upon Alderman Davies yesterday.

DENTAL HYGIENE

The importance of dental hygiene in the prevention of many diseases which were either caused or aggravated by decaying teeth was emphasized to members of the city school board last night by Dr. Harry S. Thompson, field secretary of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council and Dr. R. L. Pallen, director of the Vancouver School Dental Clinic.

The meeting was one specially held to hear the two authorities and was attended by several local dentists, including Dr. J. Ewart Gee, Dr. H. T. Johns, Dr. J. C. Foote, Dr. Charles B. Mess, school dentist, and Miss M. Hodges, school dental nurse.

Dr. Thompson said the council was an organization, supported by the federal government for dental preventive work and concentrated its efforts on educating public authorities on this question. Dr. Pallen dealt with the operation of the Vancouver clinic from an economic standpoint.

NEW YORK (AP)—Consolidated net earnings of Radio Corporation of America for the quarter ended March 31 totaled $1,448,110, equal to 4.6 cents a share on the common stock, David Sarnoff, president, reported at the company's annual meeting of stockholders today. This compared with $1,437,800, or 4.5 cents a share in the corresponding period last year.

Listen!
IT'S FUN to eat
Kellogg's
RICE KRISPIES

CHEERFUL EARFUL. "Gee, it's fun to listen to these queer little noises. On goes the milk, and then snap-crackle-pop!" This same little Joan T. used to hate breakfast—but that was before she met tempting Rice Krispies!

FUN FOR FATHERS: "Couldn't imagine fun at breakfast," says substantial Bruce T. "But I'm certainly tickled by that pop-crackle-snap. Mighty pleasant tasting, too, these Kellogg Rice Krispies. I don't wonder they're so popular."

CRISP TO LAST SPOONFUL: "Our family can't stand cereals that get leathery when the cream's poured on. That's why we prefer Rice Krispies. To the very last spoonful, Rice Krispies keep their crispness."

GANG UP ON KRISPIES! "Our gang thinks Krispies are swell," says young Dick L. "After school, we raid the pantry for Krispies and cream. Krispies have got what it takes—they're different from any other cereal I've ever eaten."

IN YOUR HOME, TOO, THEY'LL POP INTO POPULARITY

All over Canada it's "Snap! Crackle! Pop!" as whole families pour cream on Rice Krispies. These honey-colored bubbles of crispness are not only nourishing—not only tempting—they're FUN to eat!

You'll find Rice Krispies keep crisp to the last spoonful. Even after two hours in milk or cream, Rice Krispies stay floating—won't mush down. They always come even-fresh in the exclusive waxlike package. Ask your grocer today for Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

CAMERA FIENDS
We pay real money for candid shots of Krispie fans. Get an amusing shot of Father, Mother, Brother, Sister, Son, Daughter, Uncle, Aunt, enjoying Rice Krispies. $10 for every picture used. No prints returned. Write Dept. RKP, Kellogg's, London, Canada.

Victoria Girl Bride At Smart London Wedding

Miss Marnie Wright Married to Lieut. L. W. B. Cotching, R.N.

A well-known Victoria girl, who left for England in February was the bride at a smart London wedding on April 22 at 4 o'clock, when Miss Marnie Denovan Wright, daughter of Mrs. John Ernest Goldring of "Beresford Place," Victoria, became the bride of Lieut. Lionel William Besant Cotching, R.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cotching of Glasgow, Scotland.

The ceremony was the first performed at the King's Chapel of the Savoy since it was re-named, and Rev. Cyril L. Cresswell, the chaplain, officiated. The decorations were all white, with Calla lilies and lily of the valley banked on the chancel rail, and altar and to mark the guest pews. As the bride entered the church with her stepfather, Mr. John Ernest Goldring, who gave her in marriage, the choir sang the hymn, "O Perfect Love."

IN TUDOR GOWNS

The fair-haired, stately bride wore a beautiful gown in Tudor style of stiff oyster white slipper satin, with wide puffed sleeves, tapering to points at the wrist. The heart-shaped bodice was fitted at the waist and the skirt was full at the back and extended into a six-yard train. Her filmy veil fell over her face from a Tudor head-dress of satin, and extended into full train length at the back. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of mauve and white orchids.

Her sister, Miss Priscilla Denovan Wright, was her only bridesmaid, in a turquoise blue taffeta frock, also in Tudor style, with long sleeves with exaggerated puffs at the shoulder, heart-shaped bodice, the skirt full at the back and with a slight train. Her Tudor head-dress was of the blue taffeta and she carried a sheaf of pale yellow roses.

The bridegroom and his best man, Paymaster Lieut. Patrick Hamner, R.N., and the ushers, Lieut. R. Wood, R.N., Lieut. R. Brown, R.N., and Lieut. G. Yates, R.N., were all in uniform.

RECEPTION AT SAVOY

A reception was held later at the Savoy Hotel, where Mrs. Goldring, handsomely gowned in a hyacinth blue sheer ensemble, with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of orchids, was assisted in receiving the many guests by the bridegroom, wearing a smart ensemble of navy blue sheer, with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Out-of-town guests included friends from Victoria and other parts of Canada, South Africa, Scotland and Ireland.

Masses of spring flowers, arranged in tall standard baskets, were used in decoration of the reception room, and white flowers were banked around the bride's table, centred with the wedding cake.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will love you to pieces. BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls who are full of pep. So in case you need a good pep-and-energy tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "peppy" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and loquacity than from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Miss Margaret Henry of Vancouver is visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry, Island Highway, Langford.

Mrs. William Hamilton of Ladysmith is spending a few days in Langford and Victoria this week visiting friends.

Mrs. Volney Cope of Calgary, who is visiting Mrs. Ruth Armstrong, Bond Street, will leave for her home tomorrow.

Mrs. Myrtle Creelman of Truro, Nova Scotia, is spending a few days with her cousin, Mrs. G. C. Clark, Trutch Street, en route for San Francisco.

Mrs. West Jones and Mrs. Bruce Robertson arrived from Vancouver yesterday to be the guests of Mrs. P. G. Nolan, the Uplands.

After spending the last month in Victoria with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trenholme Dickson, at the Empress Hotel, Miss Elsie Dickson of Edmonton left this afternoon for her home in Alberta.

A number of Victorians will go over to Vancouver for the Bymkhana to be held on May 5 and 6 by the Lions Gate Riding and Polo Club, including Capt. and Mrs. D. B. Carley, Miss Margaret Hogg, Capt. R. Rebbitt, Mr. Bob Shanks, and Mr. J. G. Hazelwood, who went over this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wright of Jericho Road, Milner, B.C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, to Mr. Henry A. L. Fanthorpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Fanthorpe of Goldstream, Vancouver Island, formerly of Regina. The wedding will take place in Milner United Church on Wednesday evening, May 17.

Mrs. Frank Pullen of Oakville, Ontario, arrived by plane on Monday morning from the east to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Lieut. Comdr. Hugh Pullen of H.M.C.S. Ottawa, and Mrs. Pullen, Foul Bay Road. Mrs. Pullen left yesterday for Seattle and Tacoma to visit her sisters, and will return here early next week to spend a few days before leaving on Friday, May 12, by plane for her home in Ontario.

Miss Phyllis Woodward, who will leave Victoria about May 15 for San Mateo, where she is to be married, was the guest of honor at a tea given by a number of her friends at the Beach Hotel, Oak Bay, on Saturday afternoon last. Tea was served at a flower-centred table, after which the bride-to-be was presented with a handsome handworked linen-table cloth, the gift of the assembled guests who included: Mrs. C. R. Eastman, Mrs. W. Slater, Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, and the Misses Ruth McIntosh, Ann Stout, Grace Carter, Kathleen Tobin, Nessie and Ina Wallace, Betty Ramsay, Gwendys Woodward, Mildred Dickson and Rosamund Munday.

Weddings

McALLISTER-McQUARRIE

In the vestry of the Metropolitan United Church at 1 o'clock this afternoon Rev. A. E. Whitehouse united in marriage Alexander Dorothy, only daughter of Captain J. C. Maquarrie of Edmonton, and Mr. Archibald Donald McAllister, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McAllister, Cambridge Street.

In the unavoidable absence of her father the bride was given in marriage by Mr. James McMartin of Victoria and for the occasion chose a grey tweed suit, a black hat with rose wimple, black suede accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds.

She was attended by Miss Sheila McAllister, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a brown tailored suit with japonica trim and hat to match and a corsage bouquet of Tallisman rosebuds. Mr. William McCulloch of Victoria supported the bridegroom.

At the conclusion of the marriage service the bridal party, relatives and a few intimate friends, were entertained at luncheon at the home of the bride's parents, 112 Cambridge Street.

Mr. and Mrs. McAllister left later by motor for Los Angeles, and on their return in a few weeks will make their home here.

The bridegroom, who is a member of the office staff of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, was presented on the eve of his marriage with a handsome silver tray from his associates. Miss Marion Parrish of Vancouver, a cousin of the bride, was the only out-of-town guest at the wedding.

Churchwomen Hear Mme. Askanyas

A large audience in the Memorial Hall last evening listened with sympathetic interest to Mme. A. H. Askanyas of Sooke, formerly of Vienna, in her address under the auspices of the Women's Parish Guild of Christ Church Cathedral. She was introduced by Very Rev. Spencer H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, who expressed a warm welcome to her, and gave a brief summary of her experiences in Austria, whence she emigrated as a result of Nazi persecution in that country.

After speaking of the "poisoning of family life" in the dictator countries, Madame Askanyas made a plea for the emigrants who are vainly seeking homes outside Europe, with special reference to the Jews. The culture which might be brought to Canada by people from the Old World could be of great benefit.

A surprise party in honor of Mrs. Edgerton Jr., was held at her home on Powderly Ave., Victoria West. The guest of honor was presented with a silver flower basket by the members of the Esquimalt Catholic Women's League. Games were enjoyed during the evening and dainty refreshments were served by the self-invited guests. Among those present were: Mesdames H. Temple, T. O'Leary, M. K. Allen, E. Colbert, J. Lambert, H. Coles, J. Potts, R. White, H. Craven, A. Mendham, M. Smythe, J. Matheson, P. Harris, J. Palmer, A. Hammel, C. McDowell and P. Comerford.

The members of the 1939 graduating class of St. Joseph's were guests of the Hospital Alumnae at a delightful dance in the Tudor grill of the Empress Hotel Monday evening. About 100 were present including the following guests of honor: Misses Linda May Ainsworth, Agnes M. Bailey, Urith A. Campbell, Mary W. Clark, Jean Cooney, Helen Donaldson and Dorothy Donaldson, Alice M. Orfetta Irvine, Walma M. Joyce, Norah Katherine Leahy, Dorothy Isobel Mapleton, Mary McLean, June Marion McMillan, Isabel Neilson, Marjorie Mary Oisgard, Alice H. Phillips, Kathleen E. Riley, Mary Lillian Savage and Anita H. Smith.

Mrs. W. Burkmar, 949 Wollaston Street, entertained Monday evening at a surprise cup and saucer shower in honor of Miss Florence Walker of Winnipeg, a bride-elect of May. Covers were laid for 12, around a beautifully decorated table, with spring blossoms predominating. The gifts were presented to the guest of honor from a decorated basket, with an engagement and wedding ring made of spring blossoms, white iris and yellow tulips. The invited guests were: Mrs. R. Badger, Mrs. V. Butler, Mrs. J. Emerie, Mrs. R. Frayne, Miss E. Frayne, Miss I. Holland (Winnipeg), Mrs. J. Johnston, Mrs. R. Kennedy, Mrs. A. Pass, Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. F. Webb.

Canadian Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5, will meet in the K. of C. Hall, Government Street, on Thursday evening at 8. The delegate's report of the provincial convention held in Vancouver will be given, also plans made for the coming year's work.

Jubilee Reunion Dance At Oaklands School

The monthly meeting of the Oaklands Parent-Teacher Association was held Monday evening, with President Ralston in the chair and a good attendance of parents and teachers. The by-laws were read by Principal R. McInnis, chairman of the by-laws committee. Mrs. T. Jephson read a letter of resignation from Mrs. Bennett, who is retiring from the executive committee owing to ill health; this was accepted with regret. Mrs. Bewley also tendered her resignation, as she was moving from the district.

Mrs. Robbins was appointed press correspondent and was also commended for her good work on the membership committee. Oaklands school having the largest paid-up membership in Victoria.

Mrs. R. McInnis gave a resume of the provincial P.T.A. convention held in Vancouver and was thanked for her excellent report. To commemorate the 25th anniversary of the school's inauguration, the executive committee are planning to hold an Oaklands silver jubilee reunion dance on May 19 for pupils, ex-pupils and their friends. Dancing will be from 9 till 1, with Len Acres' Orchestra supplying the music. Refreshments will be served. Tickets are on sale and further information may be obtained from the principal and Mrs. McInnis or any member of the executive.

Refused to Consider Embargo Question

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Local Council of Women has followed the lead of the National Council on the question of an embargo on shipments of war materials to Japan and credit for China, and refused to consider the matter.

Delegates of the Women's International League for Peace on Monday night urged support for an embargo. Mrs. Laura Jamieson, M.P.P.-elect, president of the W.I.L.P., said:

"If Canada can not extend its credit to China or any other country, then we have given up our sovereignty as private citizens."

Mrs. E. Humphreys, member of the Local Council of Women, said the council "should not take sides in a war we do not share. A great many 'stands' for peace may run into war."

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S.
St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.P.S. met on Monday evening at 8. The devotion was taken by Allan Anderson, who also read the Scripture. Ella Brown led in prayer. After a responsive reading by the society, Isabel Stewart gave a paper entitled "Be Yourself." During the business period plans were made for the banquet to be held on May 22. Captain E. Philpott gave an interesting talk on "World and International Affairs," and answered questions asked him by members of the society.

Home Is Valuable To Community, Reports Show

Aged Women's Home Holds 41st Annual Meeting

The 41st annual meeting of the ladies' committee of the Aged Women's Home was held yesterday afternoon, when the full roster of officers was re-elected as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. W. Grace; president, Mrs. W. L. Clay; first vice-president, Mrs. F. W. Vincent; second vice-president, Mrs. E. Heddle; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. D. Whittier.

Mrs. Clay in her address noted that the rooms on the first floor of the new wing had now been finished, making total accommodation for 101 guests, and the 12 resident staff members.

"The installation of an elevator, which will be completed in June, will add to the efficiency of administration and to the comfort of everyone in the home. With the erection of the fence on the Rupert Street side it will be possible to lay out the garden properly so that the whole appearance of the building will be much improved," she said.

"The fact that there are no vacancies and further, that there is a waiting list proves that the home continues to fill a need in the community. As in previous years, the committee is indebted to citizens and organizations who have contributed to the material welfare or to the entertainment of those in the home, and to the members of the Ministerial Association who conduct services each Sunday.

FOUNDER STILL ACTIVE
Mrs. Whittier, in her annual report, noted with pleasure that Mrs. William Grant, the only one of the original founders of the home who is still living, remains an active member of the committee, and is as keenly interested as ever in the activities of the home and its inmates.

The committee remains the same, three of the members serving on the committee each month.

"In all 125 ladies have been cared for in the home during the year, of these 15 have passed on and seven have left to return to relatives after a rest with us."

"Donations and bequests during the year have been received amounting to $1,352, for which the committee are extremely grateful."

Tribute was paid to Miss Robb, the matron, and her efficient staff, and the Ministerial Association, Salvation Army, the press and other friends thanked for their assistance.

At the monthly meeting the secretary reported that two ladies had been admitted during April. Mrs. Heddle for the garden committee announced that the fences were now completed and the grounds being attended to. It is asked if any one has any garden seats that are not being used if they will donate them to the home, as it will be of great service to those wishing to sit outside.

Committee for the month: Mrs. E. Bean, convener; Mrs. W. L. Clay and Mrs. D. C. Sabiston.

Community Club Is Doing Fine Work

In spite of the busy day participated in by the majority of the members of the Esquimalt Community Club, 42 turned up to the monthly meeting held in St. Paul's Guild room on Monday evening. Three new members, Rev. J. and Mrs. Hood, and Mrs. M. Waller, were welcomed.

The sick-visiting report showed that 60 had been visited or cheered during April, both in the homes and the hospitals. The secretary reported the receipt of the charter, and the new club seal was now ready for use. Mrs. L. Howe, reported decorating the cenotaph in the Esquimalt Memorial Park weekly, the flowers being donated by friends. The social convener, R. White, told of the card party held in April and that the next one would be a poultry prize party on Monday, May 22, at 8 in the Guild room of St. Paul's Church House. Five Hundred will be played and tickets may be secured from members.

Fifty new pieces of china had been purchased, as per instructions at the last meeting, the committee in charge told the meeting. Mrs. Aldridge reported completion of the new layette for a needy mother.

Mrs. R. McVie, who convoked the successful May Day celebration reported on the assistance and co-operation given by all approached, and thanked all who had assisted in any way. Copies were presented to Mrs. McVie, and Mrs. H. C. Silburn, the club secretary, for their untiring efforts to assure this event being a success.

The club's appeal for a cook stove for a destitute family was responded to very promptly, and thanks extended to the anonymous donor. A load of wood was also donated to another needy old couple by an interested friend, members of the club volunteering to transport same free of charge.

On Monday evening, May 8, at 8 a donation party will be held in the Guild room of St. Paul's Church House, admittance being gained by donations to the house-housie and novelty stalls. Games will be played. The members were unanimously in favor of the petition sent out by the Embargo Conference Group, and any member wishing to sign should get in touch with the secretary.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Garrett and her committee.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. If in answering a telephone you do not understand the name of the person asked for, should you say "Who?"
2. If you leave your name and ask to have a person call you on the telephone, should you also leave your number?
3. Is it important to talk loud enough to be heard plainly when talking on the telephone?
4. If you are trying to get in touch with someone by telephone—and it is to your business advantage to reach him should you leave your number and ask him to call you?
5. Is it correct to answer a private telephone with "Hello?"

What would you do if—
You make a long distance call in the home of a friend. Would you—
(a) Call the operator back and ask the charges, then leave the exact amount of the call with your hostess?
(b) Do nothing about the cost of the call—letting your hostess pay it when she gets her telephone bill?
(c) Ask your hostess to tell you the cost of the call when she gets her telephone bill?

Answers
1. No. Say, "I didn't understand" or "Will you repeat that name, please?"
2. Yes, unless the person knows the number.
3. Yes. Don't make the other person strain to hear.
4. It is better then to call him back.
5. Yes.

ARE YOU TOO, AT THE BREAKING POINT?

"I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and the many remedies I tried gave me no relief whatever. A friend recommended Phyllosan tablets. After taking them only three days I began to feel much better. I have used two bottles now, and feel quite like a new person. My friends tell me I look like the picture of health." (Original can be inspected on application.)

The steady strain of worry, nerves, you are irritable, unsure of yourself. Everything seems to require too much effort. You become discouraged, feel you are just squeezing by. At the end of the day you haven't the energy or the spirit to enjoy recreation. Others seem to accomplish things so easily, and you feel you are falling way, way behind.

Probably you have allowed your system to become run down, depleted. Then no wonder you are under a constant nervous strain—trying somehow to push through and make good—against your own lack of vital energy and stamina! Start today to help your system rebuild all its vital forces and recondition itself. Help yourself to win and keep the steady energy and the physical buoyancy that will enable you to take work and recreation in full, easy strides. Start taking PHYLLOSAN tablets today.

Phyllosan, produced under the supervision of Dr. E. Buerger, Professor of Medicine at the University of Bern, Switzerland, is prescribed by many physicians. It is not an ordinary "tonic"—contains no stimulants, no animal extracts, no habit-forming drugs. A product whose primary ingredient comes from purely natural sources, Phyllosan cooperates with the natural processes of your body to help restore your blood, your nerves and your entire system to renewed vigour. The beneficial effects are not temporary but lasting.

Another Success For Arion Club

Popular Program Pleases Audience In Empress Ballroom

By G.J.D.

The Arion Club was heard last night in the second concert of its 47th season at the Empress Hotel ballroom, before a large and evidently well-pleased following of associate members and supporters.

The popular program, built on usual lines, was well varied in contrast and character, consisted of 15 chor numbers, two vocal solos, bass solo, "Asleep in the Deep" (Petrie), sung by W. Sloan, recalled, and tenor solo, Cara Roma's "In the Garden of My Heart," by George Cornelius, and two duo piano groups. The Deutsch and Altman transcription, "My Gypsy Rhapsody," and (a) paraphrase on a famous Russian gypsy air, "Dark Eyes," arranged by Stone; (b) transcription of Foster's well-known song, "Swanee River," also arranged by Stone, played by the talented sister and brother, Kathleen and William Irvine.

THE CLUB

In recent seasons seldom has the Arion Club appeared to better advantage, and certain it is that the members always seem to be at their best when on the platform of the Empress ballroom. Every number had life; excellently-enunciated words, at times perhaps too greatly "flung" forth, vitality and good rhythmic. Their best efforts were in Hollingworth's effectively harmonized and robust "Here's Life and Health to England's King"; Hatton's lovely "Stars of the Summer Night," which had to be repeated; Sir Hugh Robertson's "King Arthur" (unaccompanied), "Salamis," an old favorite and a translation from the German, by Fr. Gernsheim, solo by Maurice Chandler, which Hitler himself would have been pleased to hear the spirited music. Edward German's characteristic rollicking "London Town," loudly applauded; Audran's "Torpedo and the Whale" (solo by a member of the club unnamed on the printed program); Granville Bantock's arrangement of "Song of the Volga Boatman"; the Scottish "My Ain Hoose" (arranged by Robertson); "The Presbyterian Cat" (G. T. Francis), and the three concluding numbers (a) "Soldier's Farewell" (b) "Ho, Jolly Jenkin," solo by Fred Wright (c) "Rolling Down to Rio." The audience in each case gave enthusiastic applause.

TWO PIANOFORTES

The two duo piano groups, which added delightful contrast proved deservedly popular. Kathleen and William Irvine, a duo of uncommon gifts, once more emphasized, as on a former occasion, that they have a positive flair in this new vogue sphere of pianism. They play accurately, and prime essentials are their teamwork, and balance of tone which are certainly their own to a nicety. Their "piano" and "forte" are never bloodless; they play with a poetic feeling and warmth. That they fully deserved their recalls it is needless to add and one felt grateful to both for their finished performances on two pianos.

W. C. Fife, the club's conductor, is to be congratulated upon the work of the club as evinced yesterday, and a word of praise is also due the club's accompanist, Mrs. Clifford Warn.

Prairies First in Commons Debate

Wheat Price Dominates Budget Discussion As It Nears End

OTTAWA (CP)—Stability and security in Canada's western agricultural industry would be attained by setting a minimum wheat price of 87½ cents a bushel for several years, in the view of E. E. Perley, lone Conservative member of the House of Commons from the prairies.

Such a price—or a price determined by a comprehensive subcommittee of the Bracken western markets conference—would not only stabilize the industry but would result in the employment of 200,000 additional men on western farms, in the opinion of the Qu'Appelle, Sask., member.

He suggested the 87½-cent price start in August and be increased one cent a month until the following July. This would encourage the farmer to hold his wheat on the farm.

Also, Mr. Perley advocated a minimum domestic price of $1.20, with a regulated price for flour.

His plan was laid before the House of Commons last night as a constructive suggestion during the continuation of the budget debate, during which wheat persisted as the centre of attention.

The debate saw a second Liberal supporter, Harry Leader of Portage la Prairie, declare his intention to vote against the government on the budget. He thus joined forces with Dr. H. R. Fleming, Liberal, Humboldt, Sask., who put himself on record as a Liberal dissenter Monday night.

A third Liberal, J. A. MacMillan, K.C., Mackenzie, Sask., declared himself in favor of 80-cent wheat as opposed to the new price of 60 cents as proposed in the bill recently introduced.

"I feel like using a slogan, '70 cents or fight,'" Mr. MacMillan told the House, but he drew the line at announcing any intention of voting against the government.

In an effort to wind up the budget debate, which was rounding out its third full day, the House extended its adjournment two hours last night, rising at 1 this morning. At that time, two members were on their feet prepared to continue the argument.

FARM IMPLEMENTS

The government's failure to reduce the prices of farm implements placed only second to its guaranteed minimum wheat price as a source of complaint from Mr. Leader as it did from Mr. MacMillan.

"My duty is to vote against the budget," said Mr. Leader. "It makes not much difference which side I sit on. I can be just as good and faithful a representative as any of the hide-bound party men in this House."

"Needless to say I am not all satisfied with the progress of the present government," Mr. MacMillan said. He doubted, however, if either the Conservative, C.C.P. or Social Credit parties would have done as well.

After consideration he was satisfied the Liberal party was the most alert and progressive party in Canada. From the Conservative leader Manion's speeches in western Canada it was impossible to tell where he stood on the tariff or any other question.

New Store Is Opened Here

Public Invited to See Photographic Art Display

Victoria's newest photographic store, the Scott Camera Craft Limited, Sussex Block, 1015 Douglas Street, opened its doors for business this morning.

In connection with the opening of the new business, the public is invited to view an interesting display of photographic and other pictures, including prints, assembled on the mezzanine floor. This collection was recently shown at the Vancouver Art Gallery by the British Columbia Mountaineering Club. There are also press photographs by C. P. Detloff, staff photographer of the Vancouver Daily Province, and outstanding local pictures by A. V. Pollard, staff photographer for the Associated Screen News.

"Photographic Headquarters" is the slogan of the new firm. It will offer a complete range of still cameras at moderate prices; a range of motion picture cameras and projectors in widths of both eight and 16 millimeters, and sound equipment for the projection of sound on film in the 16-millimeter size. This equipment is particularly suitable for visual education films in schools and colleges.

Activities of the firm will also include developing, printing, enlarging and picture-framing, together with the framed reproductions of pictures of all types. Equipment is also maintained for the editing, titling and servicing of sub-standard motion picture film.

A feature of the new store is an unusually complete projection room, the walls of which are treated with materials ensuring perfect sound control. It is fitted with air-exhaust fans to ensure

TRIBUTE TO C.P.'S RETIRING MANAGER

At Annual Meeting President Comments J. F. B. Livesay's Work

TORONTO (CP)—H. P. Duchemin, K.C., Sydney (N.S.) Post-Record, at making his presidential address at the annual meeting of the Canadian Press here today, referred to the retirement on June 30 of J. F. B. Livesay, general manager and secretary, as follows:

"The impending retirement of our able and esteemed general manager brings Canadian Press face to face with the loss of its chief architect and builder. Without attempting to review or even give an adequate appraisal of Mr. Livesay's truly great career—a task which may safely be left to the future historian of Canadian journalism—I may still be permitted to pay grateful tribute, not only on behalf of the members present but of all Canadian newspapermen to our retiring general manager for the wonderful service, the gift of unflinching enthusiasm, the strong and undaunted leadership he has continued to give this organization from its inception to the present time.

"As he now at last steps aside and casts his mantle on other shoulders he carries with him the gratitude, respect and affection of the associates with whom he has worked for so many years, and of the whole membership of this association whom he has served with such fidelity and integrity of purpose.

"To succeed Mr. Livesay in the position of general manager, your directors are glad to be able to announce the appointment of J. A. McNeill, who has been associated with the Canadian Press, as a representative of the Montreal Gazette, for many years and who as a director and vice-president of our organization has made an intensive study of every aspect of its work."

Scoop for the Evening Bugle

It's this way, I'm assigned to cover the hotel where this beautiful opera personage from la belle France is staying. Ordinarily a cinch assignment. The dame's about as camera-shy as a fan dancer.

ARE YOUR FALSE TEETH false friends?

- 1 DOES THEIR STAINED LOOK SHOUT "FALSE"?
- 2 DO THEY GIVE YOU "DENTURE BREATH"?
- 3 ARE GUMS SORE DUE TO UNCLEN PLATES?

NOT IF YOU USE POLIDENT

Of course you clean your plate or bridge. You may even soak it in a mouth wash. But still your denture may be only half-clean. And unless it is truly clean and purified it can mean real trouble!

For "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors—is caused by half-clean plates. And their tell-tale stains can actually shout "false". Often they result in sore gums—and even in serious infection.

But even the worst old stains, deposits, tarnish and odors are dissolved away with Polident. No acid or danger. No brushing. Your plate looks better and feels better. Denture breath is prevented—and your mouth feels fresher and sweeter.

Dentists everywhere recommend Polident to all who wear plates or removable bridges. Millions use it daily. Sold at all drugstores—3 oz. can 40¢—7 oz. can 75¢. And your money back if not delighted.

WORKS LIKE MAGIC! Do this daily—Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 35 minutes—Rinse—and it's ready to use!

IMPORTANT NEW BASKETBALL RULE

Will Discourage Teams From Making Deliberate Fouls; Other Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—An important new basketball rule, designed to discourage teams from committing deliberate fouls to gain possession of the ball, was announced yesterday by the national rules committee at the close of its annual two-day session.

The new regulation, effective immediately, provides that after a free throw on a technical foul the ball will be awarded to the offended team, to be put in play from out-of-bounds at mid-court, whether or not the throw is successful.

The rule also provides that when a personal foul is called the offended team shall have the option of trying for the free goal or of waiving the penalty and putting the ball back in play from out-of-bounds at mid-court. If two free throws are awarded, the offended side may try for one and then pass up the second. The rule does not, of course, apply to a double foul.

Another new measure stipulates that if a player trying for a field goal is fouled from behind or roughed he shall be awarded two free throws, whether the field goal is made or not. This is designed further to discourage rough play.

The committee decided that hereafter any player may ask the referee for time out, instead of the captain alone, as formerly.

Skeet Shooters to Plan 1939 Season

The annual meeting of the Victoria Skeet and Gun Club will be held in the lounge room of the British Public Schools Club, 1218 Langley Street, tomorrow night at 8. Due to the importance of the meeting, the executive asks every member to make a special effort to be present. The agenda includes presentation of the 1938 financial report, election of officers, planning shooting days, setting dates for trophy shoots and discussion on the B.C. skeet championship meet to be held in Victoria.

Trio of Golfers Beat Christopher

If you've seen Peter W. Bell, "Whit" Stanbury and Ken Sangster wearing satisfied smiles today—there's a good reason.

This trio of fairway artillery welders were yesterday pitted against Art Christopher, a local golfer of note, in a three-against-one challenge match at the Oak Bay Golf Club, and they were the victors by a 3 and 2 count.

The match was watched by a gallery of about 50.

Christopher was playing the best ball of the three, whom he spotted 11 strokes over the 18 holes of play. He gave their best ball five strokes on the first nine and six on the final nine.

No "verbal holds" were barred in this match except when putting and teeing off. The trio had a decided edge on Christopher. Not only did he spot them strokes, but also had to try and play good golf under their withering fire of jibes.

Brentwood College Riflemen in Final

MONTREAL (CP)—Provincial winners in the five-man team event staged by the Dominion Marksmen's Association Junior Rifle League were announced yesterday. The highest scoring team for each province won a berth in a final round to be held this month.

Calgary Rifle Club led the Alberta entrants with 1,548, 11 points more than the British Columbia's high qualifying total fired by No. 1 team of Brentwood College, Brentwood, B.C.

BOXING

New York—Walter Franklin, 157½, Hamilton and Windsor, Ont., outpointed Babe Orgovan, 157½, Houston, Texas (8).

Detroit—Don Siegel, 214, Detroit, knocked out Freddie Hollis, 184, Kitchener, Ont. (1).

Los Angeles—Mike Belloise, 129½, New York, outpointed George Hansford, 132, Los Angeles (10).

International Rugby PARIS—It is reported the International Rugby Board has suggested to the French Rugby Federation that games between France, England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, suspended in 1931, be resumed.

Captures Chester Cup

CHESTER, Eng. (CP)—Sir Frederick Eley's Winnebar, a five-year-old by Winalot from Tabaris, today won the Chester Cup Stakes over two miles, two furlongs, 77 yards. Winnebar started at 100 to 8.

CROWD PROTESTS WENSTOB VICTORY

2,000 Boo When Canadian Champion Given Decision Over Coates

EDMONTON (CP)—Eddie Wenstob fought back from a fourth-round no-count knockdown here last night to win an unpopular decision from Charlie "Killer" Coates, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout. The Edmonton, light-heavyweight, western Canadian champion, weighed 173 and Coates 168.

The decision was booed loudly by 2,000 fans.

After piling up a narrow margin in points through the first three rounds, Wenstob hit the canvas when a quick left to the chin sent him off balance. Coates followed the jab with a heavy right as the Canadian staggered backwards.

Jumping up apparently unhurt, Wenstob forced the fight the rest of the way. As Coates forced Wenstob to do the bulk of the leading, it was the negro who hit the cleaner blows in the open fighting. But in the clinches—and for most of the going in the last six rounds it was a case of out-of-one clinch into another—Wenstob garnered enough points to swing the "go" in his favor.

"I wouldn't be able to grip it firmly. The atmosphere would not affect the seams. The result was that the ball wouldn't break sharply. Sometimes it wouldn't break at all."

Schoolboy Rowe uses three different grips for various types of pitches.

"I throw my fast ball so that all four seams hit the air," he explains. "The ball hops each time one of the seams comes up on top."

"A variation of the standard fast ball is the 'sailer,' which is thrown with only two seams revolving toward the batter. By 'sailing' I mean the ball breaks either to the right or left. The direction is determined by the way I place my hand on the seam. 'Raised seams help a curve.'"

Willie Turnesa and Frank Stralci, a pair of young New York Italians who made good in a big way, will compete in the British amateur golf championship May 22 to 27.

Bosey Berger, now with the Boston Red Sox ball club, spent two campaigns with the Chicago White Sox and never met owner Lou Comiskey.

Frank Walsh, the Rumson, N.J., professional, claims that swimming and table tennis are bad for golfers. "It throws them off in their timing."

Bill Dickey regrets he's not left-handed so he could disprove the theory that a southpaw baseball catcher never could make the grade.

$29,845 FOR STRATTON

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice-president Harry Grabner of Chicago White Sox announced yesterday the benefit game for Monty Stratton netted the disabled pitcher at least $29,845.25. Stratton, the Sox' pitcher last season, lost a leg in a November hunting accident and now is a coach with the team.

GOLF WINNERS

In the J. W. Benning Memorial Cup competition at the Victoria Golf Club, Mrs. E. D. Todd and Miss V. Shandley finished in a tie for first and will play off for possession of the silverware.

In the May medal competition, Mrs. R. C. Field led A Class with a score of 87-12-75, and Mrs. E. D. Todd, Mrs. W. P. Bowden and Miss Spencer tied for first place in B Class with net scores of 78.

ANNUAL N.H.L. MEETING

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, said last night the league's annual meeting would be held in Boston May 13. He gave no indication of the agenda, merely saying the meeting would "wind up business of the year."

Seven Come—Victory

MELBOURNE—M. Francoise (United States cyclist) and Guyatt (Australia) rode their match race seven times on a board track before Guyatt was decided winner.

Africa's most dangerous malaria-carrying mosquitoes reached Natal, Brazil, in 1939, and have since spread 200 miles nearer Central and North Africa.

SCIENCE AND MORALITY

The right use of science is a matter of morality and religion; science itself is knowledge only. This opinion was stated by Sir William Bragg, Nobel prize physicist, president of Britain's famous Royal Society and director of the Royal Institution. "The distinction is most important," he says, "because it is otherwise possible to blame science where the fault lies not in an excess of knowledge but in a lack of morality." Sir William, who is in this country to deliver an address at a meeting of Canadian and American scientists in Toronto, continues: "Science grows all the time. This is partly due to the natural curiosity of man, who loves to explore the unknown. It is a very great pleasure to unravel some mystery or to find some new thing in nature which has never been observed before. Another cause is the constant demand for more knowledge."

"It is to be remembered that each item of knowledge can probably be used for many purposes, quite different, it may be, from anything in the mind of the discoverer or from any purpose he had, if he had one at all. The poison gases of modern warfare were not invented as such; they have long been known and used, and if they could be and were used as such would be a serious interruption in the world's work."

"It is cheerful and indeed helpful to look at the bright side. We observe the increasing health of the community, the gradual lessening of pain and want and distress, the increase in the opportunities for wonder and admiration as the marvels of the world are unfolded. The more we understand and appreciate the power that knowledge gives us, and the good that we can do with it, the stronger and more ready we are to oppose its degradation by mistaken or evil usage."

"The really important point is: How are we to behave in the face of this growing knowledge of the world in its material aspects? I believe that most will trust to the observance of the fundamental rules of Christianity. I do not argue the question as to whether these rules are to be found in Christianity alone; that is outside my province today. Here is to be found the incentive to right action. After that comes wisdom, based on an understanding of the influence which natural knowledge has had and will have upon our lives. We have to acquire skill in the use of what we discover, and skill is not acquired in a day."

"I believe that it is a mistake to lament that our troubles arise because morality is not growing fast enough to keep up with science. Morality cannot grow at such a rate. But if we give our minds to it we can acquire the skill which is wanted to make the right use of the growth of science; only we have to learn quickly because science is growing so fast."

"Science puts into our hands vast opportunities for improving the conditions that govern our lives. There is also good will in the world; far more, I think, than we might gather from what we read and hear; we should rather trust our everyday experiences with our neighbors. But wisdom and understanding are sorely lacking, and one of the greatest needs of the day is to learn how to make use of the knowledge we have gained."

"It is to be remembered that speculation is not knowledge; speculation is necessary, but must be kept strictly in its place. It is good when we use it to suggest the next step to be made; it is right also to remind ourselves that what we know is a drop in the ocean compared to what we do not know. There is a mysticism which is a confession of ignorance and is healthy; there is also a mysticism founded on uncontrolled imagination which may be dangerous."

Visitors See Fine Gardens

Spring Garden Festival Attracts People From Many Parts of Northwest

Fifty visitors to Victoria started their rounds of the city's most beautiful gardens this morning as the annual Spring Garden Festival opened.

From many points along the Pacific coast amateur garden enthusiasts arrived yesterday afternoon and today for this annual event, held when Victoria is a mass of gay spring flowers and magnificent shrubs and blossom trees.

A number of the visitors are from east of the Rockies and are delighted with the wealth of bloom and the green lawns. In their home towns winter is just breaking up and no flowers have yet appeared.

In Gray Line buses this morning the visitors went to see the gardens of Government House.

AT HATLEY PARK

From Government House the visitors went to the gardens of Senator and Mrs. G. H. Barnard and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Morrell, and this afternoon they motored to Hatley Park and then saw the gardens of Mrs. David Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waddell and Col. and Mrs. S. L. McMullen.

Tomorrow morning the gardens of Lady Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pooley, Mrs. Biggs, staff Wilson, Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, Capt. and Mrs. Hobart Molson, Mr. and Mrs. D. James Angus and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. D. Pemberton will be open to the visitors and any interested Victorians.

"THE NEW DEMOCRACY"

To the Editor:—Yesterday's Times announces that Friday, May 5, W. D. Herridge will speak at the Empire Theatre about "The New Democracy." What that "new democracy" stands for, we have been able to read in Herridge's speech at Ottawa, as fully published in the Western Province, Saskatoon, of March 9 last. That speech threw both the Liberal and Conservative parties in an uproar; those parties did not like the way Herridge exposed them: the same things have been told the people for several years by the C.C.F. and before the advent of the C.C.F. by other progressives, but coming from an old Tory, brother-in-law of R. B. Bennett, it got under their skin considerably.

And yet, the old Tory cannot free himself altogether from the Tory—the reactionary ideology. Listen to part of his speech. I quote: "I joined the Conservative party in 1930. I knew nothing of politics. But I knew that the Conservative party had a fearless and progressive leader. . . . I was close to the centre of things. I dreamed dreams. I thought this party had the will to save the country. From the first, I should have known better. When four years ago reaction throttled the brave efforts of the party's leader to effect reform, I certainly should have known better. But I did not learn my lesson even then. I do not wonder that some of you have found this lesson difficult to learn. It took a club to get it into my head. . . ."

"There is no compromise between right and wrong. Why won't we admit it? This is a fight between justice and injustice, freedom and slavery, truth and falsehood, Christianity and anti-Christ. . . ."

"Where stands the Liberal government? At present it stands for reaction. Reaction is greed on the defensive; greed on the offensive. This government is not internationally Fascist. But it is intentionally laissez faire. . . ."

"The people demand security. They are not fussy about how they get it. . . ."

"We must prepare to back a reform candidate in every constituency in Canada. Behind that candidate we must rally every shade of progressive thought. We must elect that candidate at the next election. . . ."

"I have taken a long time to make up my mind to say this. I think I would have gladly grasped at compromise. But, of course, there is no compromise. You know that. . . ."

"A People's Parliament! The job of this parliament will be to build a democracy which will work. We will aim at a minimum of change. But we will go on until we get results; not a step further than we need to go; not a step short of it. What we propose to do has not been done before; it is not done elsewhere now. . . ."

The quotations are, in my opinion, the outstanding expressions of policy in Herridge's speech. "We will aim at a minimum of change." Take this in, all you who are in doubt yet. Yesterday's win of the C.C.F. in Vancouver Centre should open your eyes. Patullo must have said: "What I say goes in B.C." Not so yesterday in Vancouver. Corporation

MOLOCH IN 1939

To the Editor:—The peak of horror in modern warfare as practiced for the last year or two in China and Spain is not the bombing of civilians. That is bad enough; and half-hearted attempts have been made by its perpetrators to set it all down to accidents, wild aiming at military objectives.

No; the real acme of cruelty, deliberate murder, different from any kind of war hitherto known, is what follows the bombing, namely, low-flying and then machine-gunning the survivors. Of this extermination, the most harrowing feature is the killing of numberless innocent children. For children are even more helpless than women and old people.

The name "Moloch," used above, seemed appropriate, as the worship of that ancient god specialized in infanticide. And who can deny that child-killing has been an outstanding feature in the methods of Japan, Germany, Italy and Fascist Spain?

An English correspondent wrote regretfully the other day: "I know that we would retaliate and mete out similar treatment to defenceless noncombatants in enemy countries." This seemed unbelievable, as our people are not murderers. They would surely forego that particular method of breaking enemy morale, leaving it to the exponents of ruthlessness. That may seem too hopeful; but one hates to think the thing possible. It still seems incredible that British airmen would kill a single German or Italian child deliberately, but would spare them the ordeal that Spanish and Chinese children have had to go through. Anyway, it would not bring our own children back to life.

Take the picture of the flight of civilians from Malaga along the coast road. Under a hail of death from flank and rear, from sky and sea, they toiled on, many old and wounded men, many women; but surely the most pitiful of all were the children, babies in arms, infants in prams, some toddling along as best they could, almost all marked for death, or worse, the torture of mutilation.

This mass crime was intentional. It followed the scientific code of German specialists in terror, on which the Franco party had based official instructions. Yet this evil deed failed to break Spanish morale for two years more, showing that the crime of indiscriminate slaughter was not even useful, but ineffective in achieving the success of the rebellion. Heroic Spain never yielded, till lack of munitions and sheer starvation brought the end. Heroic China is still resisting.

In Spain then, as in China, Moloch was once more king as of old, devouring the young.

TOWN TOPICS

Cecil Henry Gordon Dixon of Victoria has received graduate honors in forestry and conservation at the University of Michigan.

Condition of Albert Lamb, 18, Old Luxton Road, who suffered a fractured lung when gored by a bull on the Henderson Farm at Luxton Monday, was reported good at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Judgment was reserved by the Court of Appeal yesterday on the appeal of the B.C. Electric Railway Company Ltd. against the judgment of Mr. Justice McDonald in Vancouver Supreme Court awarding Katsumi Hanada $15,000 damages for the loss of a leg suffered by the three-year-old Japanese boy when a street car passed over the limb on Powell Street in September, 1937.

The Esquimalt Dramatic Club met last night at $16 Dunsmuir Road for the purpose of electing officers and drafting plans for 1938. Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman was re-elected president, and Mrs. Pat Fairweather first vice-president and representative to the B.C. Drama Association; Brenton Fairweather, secretary-treasurer. Plans for producing further plays were discussed. A meeting will be held shortly for the reading of plays and deciding on one to be entered in the Dominion Drama Festival. The club last year devoted its efforts to the raising of funds for the Esquimalt Community Club's welfare work.

Assesses Damages

Damages amounting to $1,909.40 were assessed in favor of plaintiff Lawrence Moore, but responsibility was left in question in a verbal judgment given by Mr. Justice Manson in Supreme Court yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the action initiated by Moore against Chris Boyd.

Moore, who had aspirations towards an acrobatic career, sustained severe compound fractures of one leg as the result of an accident on the Jordan River Road in August, 1937, in which a car, driven by defendant's son, swerved into him as he inspected the engine of his parked automobile on the roadside. As the result of medical treatment, he recovered with one leg an inch shorter than the other.

Question arose over responsibility on the part of the parent, or the son.

The Royal Visit

Press Plans Being Made

Much Detail Involved in Arranging to Handle Crowd of Newspaper Reporters

The tremendous task of "covering" the movements of the King and Queen for the press of the world moved a step farther ahead yesterday when representatives of Victoria newspapers conferred with police chiefs and G. H. Lash, who is in charge of press arrangements.

More than 60 newspapermen of Canada, Great Britain and the United States will cross Canada on the pilot train which will run half an hour ahead of the Royal train. They will come to Victoria by special steamer and take up headquarters at the Empress Hotel.

Special wires will be installed at the hotel to send news of the Royal visit to Victoria to all parts of the world. In addition to the newspapermen who will accompany the Royal couple to Victoria, dozens more from Pacific Coast cities and all parts of the Pacific Northwest will come here for the two-day Royal visit.

Mr. Prince Robert, on which Their Majesties will return to Vancouver, will bring the newspapermen here an hour before the King and Queen arrive. The press party will return to Vancouver by Ss. Princess Marguerite, which will bring the King and Queen here the evening of May 29.

The newspapers are working in close co-operation with police heads for the occasion. Because of the great numbers of newspaper people they will have to pool many of their stories. At the official luncheons there will be room for only half a dozen reporters, who will share their stories with other reporters.

OTTAWA (CP)—Chief Constable Albert Canning of Scotland Yard is busy co-operating with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in plans for guarding the King and Queen during their tour of Canada.

Since Canning joined the force in 1909 at the age of 20 he has been connected with the special branch whose principal function is to "guard the security of the state."

At New York he conferred with authorities in charge of the Royal program in the United States. With New York and Washington police chiefs he went over every foot of the routes to be traversed by Their Majesties. A long conference is being held in Ottawa to review protective plans for the coast-to-coast Canadian journey.

Only once in his career has anything happened even remotely to approach an "incident." That was in July, 1936, when an onlooker tossed a loaded revolver near King Edward VIII.

Lately he and his squad have devoted their wits to the challenge of Irish Republican Army terrorists. He was responsible for rounding up a large number of suspects, many of whom were convicted and given long terms of imprisonment.

OTTAWA (CP)—Only one Canadian woman will travel throughout Canada on the Royal train bearing the King and Queen. Miss Theresa Moloney, secretary to Dr. E. H. Coleman, under-secretary of state and chairman of the interdepartmental committee for the Royal Tour, will accompany her chief throughout the entire trip.

At various points on the tour wives of cabinet ministers who accompany their husbands will join the train, but Miss Moloney will be the only Canadian woman to remain for the month-long trip.

LONDON (CP)—The King and Queen were guests last night at a private dinner given by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, and Mrs. Massey, at their home.

A trooper of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, clad in a scarlet uniform, stood guard at the doorway as Mr. and Mrs. Massey greeted their guests.

It was the first time Their Majesties had been the dinner guests of any Dominion High Commissioner.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief of Police W. W. Foster, chairman of the National Veterans' Council, issued a call yesterday for a speed-up in registration of war veterans who plan to take part in the reception of the King and Queen here May 29.

Only about half the objective of 5,000 veterans have registered so far. Col. Foster asked that all veterans who plan to take part in the reception should be registered within the next ten days to allow formation of reception plans.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's Chinese community plan a colorful celebration including a lantern parade of 300 Chinese students in native costume May 28 to celebrate the coming of the King and Queen the next day. The festival will last from dawn to dusk.

Following the student parade will be the band of the 32nd Chi-ness Boy Scout troop and a troop of 100 uniformed Chinese youngsters performing the traditional dragon dance. On an open-air platform to be erected in Chinatown Oriental plays will be presented and there will be street dancing from 9 a.m. until midnight.

Pioneer Firm Closes Doors

Turner Beeton and Company Link With Victoria's Earliest Days

One of Victoria's pioneer firms, Turner Beeton and Company Ltd., known and respected up and down the coast for nearly three-quarters of a century, closed its doors on Wharf Street today, having gone into voluntary liquidation some weeks ago.

Another pioneer firm, David Spencer Limited, established a few years later, has purchased the entire stock and will put it on sale tomorrow.

Turner Beeton Company opened its doors in 1867 in London House on Government Street, as J. H. Turner and Company, its founder being Hon. J. H. Turner, for many years prominent in the political life of British Columbia and later agent-general for this province in London, where he died during the war.

It was the headquarters for most of the Pacific coast buyers coming here from California, Oregon and Alaska. The up-coast business grew during the time of the Yukon gold rush, tons of supplies being sent north from Victoria.

Mr. Turner was in personal charge until a limited company was formed in 1902 when the late G. A. Kirk became manager. Since Mr. Kirk's death eight years ago, Percy Cridde has been manager.

The old almanacs and price lists of the firm are most interesting and historically valuable and will be presented to the Provincial Archives. Several contain memoranda by Mr. Turner about weather, arrivals of ships and events of importance in the Victoria of the seventies and eighties. Advertisements of pioneer firms, long since disbanded, are also in these little booklets which have been well preserved through the years.

Mr. Turner and the late David Spencer, founder of the great department store which bears his name, were business associates in Victoria for many years. The Spencer firm was founded in 1873, also on Government Street near London House.

FAILS IN FIGHT ON DEPORTATION

Court Rules East Indian Entered Country Illegally

Banta Singh, East Indian, who has been fighting deportation since 1937, lost another round today when judgment of Mr. Justice Dennis Murphy was handed down on his habeas corpus application.

The judgment dismissed the application and, in effect, implemented a deportation order issued on the ground Banta Singh entered Canada illegally through a point other than a legal port of entry.

A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., appeared for the Department of Immigration in the action in which Banta Singh was represented by M. B. Jackson, K.C.

Following receipt of a passport in 1931, the East Indian clashed with the immigration authorities in 1937 when his application for renewal of passport was declined. He was held at that time and applied for habeas corpus proceedings before Mr. Justice Robertson in Supreme Court. His application failed and he appealed. The Court of Appeal held the appeal premature and ordered completion of an examination by the federal department. His application for renewal of passport was dismissed.

The deportation order was made and another application for habeas corpus proceedings followed. The judgment handed down today dismissed that order.

HASTINGS — Edward Charles Hastings of 713 View Street died last night at St. Joseph's Hospital, aged 59 years. Mr. Hastings was born in Kent, England, and moved to this city 20 years ago from Toronto, Ontario. He was a veteran of the Great War and served overseas from 1915 to 1919 with the Canadian Army Service Corps. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, Court Victoria, No. 8930. He leaves his widow, Elizabeth, View Street, one daughter, Mrs. Fred Dangerfield, Port Angeles, Wash., one brother, Arthur, and two sisters, Mrs. M. Woodfield and Mrs. M. Foster in England. Prayers will be said Thursday evening at 8 at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, and requiem high mass will be celebrated Friday morning at 9 at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

WINDOW DISPLAYS OF FINE QUALITY

Although the entry in the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce second annual spring floral window-decorating contest is small, the high standard of the displays entered drew praise from officials of the organization today.

The contest, which opened today and will continue until Friday, attracted 10 competitors. The judges, Harold Digson, Frank Gielma and Douglas Flintoff, will start judging the displays tomorrow morning.

While all the displays are very attractive, the ones that are most appealing to the eyes of the window shoppers are the miniature spring gardens arranged in some of the display windows of firms competing.

Entries follow: Plume Shop, Paint Supply, Minnis Drug Store, Vancouver Drug Stores at Fort and Douglas and Yates and Douglas, Preview Shoe Shop, Currie-Gillespie, Murdoch's Antique Shop, New England Cafe, Arctic Studio.

year, awarding $575 damages to William John Kyle for common assault at McBride, B.C., was dismissed by the Court of Appeal today upon the application of A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., counsel for the respondent.

Mr. Macfarlane stated appellant had failed to put up security for costs and had not entered the appeal for hearing.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

Per word per insertion.
Minimum charge, 25c.
Births, $1.00 per insertion.
Marriages, $1.50 per insertion.
Deaths, $1.50 first insertion and $1.00 succeeding insertions.
Funeral notices, 10c per line for Memorial notices and Cards of Thanks, $1.50 per insertion.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one insertion. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within 30 days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire to have their notices addressed to a box at the Times Office and forwarded to their private address, a charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier, if your Times is missing, phone E1522 before 7 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

BOX REPLIES AVAILABLE

Letters addressed to the following boxes are available at the Times Office on presentation of box letters. Maximum results are obtained by advertisers who follow up replies promptly.

DIED

O'CONNOR—Suddenly at St. James' Hotel, on May 2, 1939, Miss O'Connell, nee O'Connell, born in Sydney, N.S., and resident of Victoria for many years. The remains are resting in the B.C. Funeral Chapel and funeral arrangements will be made later.

RENNIE—At St. Joseph's Hospital on May 2, 1939, Mrs. Rennie, nee Rennie, born in Michigan, aged 35 years; born near Ottawa, Ont.

The remains are resting in the B.C. Funeral Chapel pending funeral arrangements.

CROSWEN—Passed away at Royal Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday, May 2, 1939, Mrs. Margaret Croswen, aged 84 years. The late Mrs. Croswen was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and had been a resident of this city for the last 28 years. She leaves to mourn her passing two sons, James and David Croswen, and a daughter, Mrs. M. M. Tait, all of whom she resided with. She was the mother of three children, Mrs. M. M. Tait, Sumnerland, B.C.; Miss J. B. Croswen, Victoria, and Mrs. M. J. Croswen, Victoria.

The remains are resting at the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Ltd., from where the funeral will be held on Thursday, May 4, 1939, at 2 o'clock. Rev. H. A. McLeod will officiate. The remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

FRANCK—Accidentally at Nimitz Lake on Friday, April 28, 1939, there passed away John Otto Frank, aged 44 years, of Portage Avenue, Saanich. Born in Saanich, the late Mr. Frank had been a resident of Victoria all his life. There remain to survive his passing, besides his loving wife, two sons, John and Joe, and one daughter, Margaret, all at the residence; three brothers, Tom, Bill and George, all at the residence; and three sisters, Meta, in Revelstoke, B.C.; Lena, in Kamloops, and Dolly, in Washington.

The remains are resting at the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Ltd., from where the funeral will be held on Thursday, May 4, 1939, at 2 o'clock. Rev. H. A. McLeod will officiate. The remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.
